City Hall move goes smoothly

The move of the municipal offices to the Romulus Public Library went smoothly last weekend as a prelude to a seven-month remodeling and asbestos abatement effort at City Hall.

Brad Field, a special consultant to the city, and James Napiorkowski, city treasurer, said the physical move, which began about 5 p.m. Friday, operated with almost no glitches through late Saturday afternoon.

The truckers strike caused two problems, Field said, as an inverter device used as a backup unit for electrical power for the library lighting system and automatic doors, had to be flown in and temporary rest room partitions had to be erected when the planned dividers were stranded in Chicago.

Another minor snafu took place Friday night, when the City Hall elevator broke down briefly. "We had it up and running again in about two or three hours," Field said. "The breakdown caused no time delays, as we just rerouted that night's moving schedule around it," he continued.

Intricate layouts of the temporary offices were drawn up by Field long before the move took place and four series of cross check numbers were placed on all furniture, computers and boxes to guarantee that office mixups would be kept to a minimum.

With heavy rains always a weekend possibility, Field said, "We had to develop alternate moving plans. The weather was cool but otherwise perfect for the move and the movers from Graebel Moving Co. were able to transport almost all the City Hall belongings to the library on wheeled moving devices."

The telephone lines were cut off at City Hall at 5:30 p.m. Friday and were re-established mid-morning on Saturday at the library building. About 70 new phones were installed for use beginning Monday. New phones also were set up at the Romulus Police Headquarters and the Department of Public Works.

The files and furniture that could not fit or were not immediately needed at the transition site at the library building are being stored at a Metroplex facility in nearby Romulus, Field said.

On Monday, installers hooked up city department signs so that visitors to the temporary City Hall site can easily find the city employees or departments they are seeking.

Mayor Beverly McAnally expressed great pleasure that the weekend move went so smoothly, stating the heavy pre-planning by Field and Napiorkowski were the key reasons for the near-precision maneuver.

One City Hall worker on Monday morning said, "My phones and computer are working OK. All I need now is to sort out my files. It probably will take a few days."

4 seek 2 school seats

A pair of 12-year Romulus Community School District board members are being challenged this June 13 by a team of challengers.

The incumbents seeking reelection are Edward L. Wilkerson and Mary M. King. Both joined the board back in 1982.

The two challengers are Julie A. Oleszkowicz and Judith Gondek, who plan to run their campaigns as a team.

The two incumbents both feel that school funding will be the number one issue, partially because of the impact Proposal A has on Romulus.

Wilkerson, immediate past board president, feels Romulus Schools' funding process has been altered in past years because "first we were in formula, then we were out of formula and now we are being placed back in formula again."

"While we were out of formula, we created some new programs and cut class sizes. Now that we are back in formula, the strongest way to impact budget cuts is through hiking class sizes. It's not what we favor doing, but we do have to live within our district's budget limits," Wilkerson said.

King, who currently is board vice president, also feels school finances will be a major issue in the current campaign.

"I feel my past experience in both financial and policy areas are a major plus for the district. I work with the service for learning effort at the high school and even chauffeur some of the students around to area programs," King said. "I serve as treasurer of the Wayne County Association of School Boards and provide Romulus heavy access into their planning cycles."

King said while her chil-

Edward Wilkerson

Mary King

dren are grown, she has three grandchildren in the Romulus school district and thus remains active with students, teachers and parents on various levels.

Gondek is a 14 year resident of Romulus, a mother of two children and has actively attended school board meetings for more than three years.

"I feel that our veteran school board needs some changes and that is why Julie and I decided to run as a team," Gondek said. "We both feel that complacency has developed on the board and not enough discussion occurs on school finance issues before a decision is made."

Her campaign team member, Oleszkowicz, has been a city resident for the past 17 years and also has attended school board meetings for a number of years.

She is a former president of the Wick School Parent Teacher Organization and has been active with a number of district-wide groups including the school improvement team, policy committee and the steering committee on Partnerships for Education.

"I've thought for years I should run for the board, because I too feel board members have become complacent and few have children still in the school system," Oleszkowicz said. "I think the board must remember they hire the superintendent of schools and it should not appear that the reverse happens."

Oleszkowicz questions why the board members are still working on the same budget cut list in April, as they did in August.

"I'm concerned that class sizes are continuing to grow, Special Ed students are being mainstreamed with other students and apparently no athletic cuts are being considered at this time, only academic area cutbacks," Oleszkowicz said.

Murder hearing slated today

The two Detroit men charged with the pre-Easter killing of a Detroit Metro Airport visitor face a 2 p.m. pretrial hearing today in 34th District Court.

The defendants are Charles Douglas Scott, 33, and Isaac Collier Jr., 26, both of Detroit. Both have been held in the Wayne County Jail in lieu of bail since their separate arraignments last week.

Scott walked into the 10th Detroit Police Precinct about 1 p.m. last Thursday and informed police that he heard a police warrant had been issued for his arrest.

Detroit Police immediately notified Romulus authorities, who picked up Scott and transported him to Romulus. He later was arraigned before 34th District Court Judge Henry Zaborowski on felonious murder, robbery and a felony firearm complaint.

Two days earlier Collier was arrested in the home of one of his Detroit friends, Romulus Detective Lt. Kenneth Kraus said, and the car-jacked bright red 1992 Pontiac Grand Prix with gold-colored wheels that was used as a get-away car was recovered.

Collier, who was charged with the same three complaints, was arraigned Thursday morning before Zaborowski. He also was ordered held without bail.

Romulus detectives state the pair apparently tried to rob Elwin A. Lillie, 54, of Ewart, of his money as he sat in his car reading a newspaper in the McDonald's Restaurant parking lot on Middlebelt Road at 2 p.m. April 2.

Police said a shot was fired by one of the suspects, apparently while the pair were still sitting in their car. The bullet struck Mr. Lillie in the head, killing him instantly, police reported.

Mr. Lillie's car began to roll, hit the restaurant building and then the attacker's vehicle, disabling it, police said.

The attackers then fled on foot, one of them car jacking a vehicle from an Inkster woman getting gas at a nearby Amoco service station. Police said she asked the carjacker for the return of her purse and he reportedly threw it at her, just before speeding from the scene.

Mr. Lillie had stopped at the Romulus McDonald's Restaurant, while awaiting the arrival of his 80-year-old mother, Marian, aboard a plane at Metro Airport. When Marian Lillie arrived at the airport, she called her family to tell them that her son had not arrived to pick her up.

Minutes later police arrived to inform her of Mr. Lillie's death.

Family members said Mr. Lillie had driven his mother's car from Florida to Romulus, where he was to meet her after her flight to Metro Airport.

The victim was born and raised in Greenville and moved near Ewart five years ago when he accepted a job as construction foreman of a religious camp.

Mr. Lillie was termed, "a great individual, great friend and great personality," by his boss, Mark Oleson, director of Spring Hill Camp.

The victim's nephew, Les Lillie, called his uncle, "a man who was totally dedicated to his family and God."

In addition to his mother, Mr. Lillie is survived by his wife, Judy, and two sons, Brian and Bart.

ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

Bandit robs gas station attendant

A lone male bandit robbed the attendant at the Total Gas Station at Wayne and Goddard Roads about 9:30 p.m. last Friday.

The attendant told police that the bandit entered the station office, walked toward him as he was standing near the cash register and demanded, "Give me all the money or I'll blow your brains out."

The victim said the bandit implied that he had a gun in his pocket. He surrendered the undetermined amount of cash and the bandit fled, the victim said.

The bandit was described as being a black male about six feet tall and weighing about 180 pounds. He was said to be wearing a dark baseball style hat and grey-blue varsity shirt with the name "Bugle Boy" written on the back.

Last tax service day is today

Today is the last day that free income tax and homestead and heating credits are being serviced at the Romulus Senior Citizen Center.

Similar services were offered each Wednesday afternoon since February by center volunteers.

School to offer crafts and bingo

A charity craft auction will be staged Saturday at St. Aloysius School Hall by the Parents' Club.

The auction is to begin at 2 p.m. Baked goods and other refreshments will be sold.

The school will also offer a 50-50 bingo marathon beginning at 3 p.m. Saturday April 23. The marathon will continue through 11:30 p.m.

Fashion show slated April 28

A family oriented fashion show will be offered at 6 p.m. April 28 at the Romulus High School auditorium.

Fashions will include school clothes, casual clothes, sportswear and prom formals.

The show is being sponsored by the Booster Club and some of its athletes.

Various school board office employees and city council members will act as the models, a club spokeswoman said. Door prizes will be distributed.

Funds raised will be used to support junior varsity and varsity cheerleader competition costs and Booster Club general fund needs.

Dinner, drama slated at church

A spaghetti dinner and drama will be staged at 6 p.m. Saturday at the Romulus Wesleyan Church.

Advance tickets cost $4 for adults and youth ages 11 and above and $2.50 for youth between the ages of 5 and 10.

Children ages 4 and under will be served free.

Tickets can be purchased by calling 942-0144 or 941-1511.

Students label drains

Romulus students have joined the environmental effort to keep the Detroit River clean.

Margaret LeDuc, city emergency management director, revealed that the Romulus Students Aware of Valuable Environment (SAVE) are stenciled "Dump No Waste - Drains to River" messages on city drains over the Easter week holiday.

LeDuc warned, "Even small amounts of toxic chemicals such as paint thinner, weed killer or household hazardous wastes can weaken fish and make them susceptible to fatal diseases."

"In order for the Detroit River to sustain fish that are free of toxic contamination," LeDuc stated, "we must understand that the surface of water is a nursery for developing eggs and larvae of fish, shellfish and other aquatic life."

'Lady in blue' accepts challenges for youth

Romulus Youth Officer Rosemary Cooper was on the police force for more than three years when the opportunity to become a youth officer was opened to her.

Cooper, a graduate of Wayne State University, jumped at the chance, since few other officers either male or female expressed any heavy interest in the position.

Feeling her major in law enforcement and minor in psychology would help her immensely in handling the youth position, Cooper sought the position and was named the department youth officer three years ago by former Police Chief Fred Dansby.

Cooper is one of only four women officers in the Romulus Police Department today and is proud of the work she has done with juveniles to date.

Two of the remaining three women, Teresa Smagner and Carolyn Huggins are patrol officers and Cora Semrau is a detective.

Cooper remembers joining the force about six and a half years ago and feeling accepted by the heavy majority of the male officers.

"Only three men seemed to have had a problem with my joining the department at that time," Cooper said, "and even that problem didn't last very long."

Today relations between her and other department members are wonderful, she said.

As the Romulus youth officer, Cooper expects to see many changes in the juvenile justice system in coming years, some being initiated by the sudden wave of youth violence and gang activities across southern Michigan and throughout the U.S.

Cooper feel juvenile crime fighters will have to become more community oriented in the future.

Currently, she has been called to speak to the fifth- and sixth- graders at a local elementary school and the administration at the Romulus Middle School as a prelude to efforts to combat graffiti and any potential gang development within Romulus.

Police Chief Robert Brown earlier asked the local police officers to notify Cooper of any gang style graffiti appearing in Romulus.

"Most of the graffiti popping up here includes slang terms and symbols relating to various gangs," Cooper said, "and we are hoping that if it appears on private property the owners will remove it promptly when notified and when it appears on city property, city employees will get rid of it."

To keep up to date with gang and graffiti problems in neighboring towns and cities, Cooper said she attends a monthly downriver anti-gang meeting. "Gangs don't necessarily stay within city lines," she explained, "so police departments and other support groups will have to work together to stay ahead of the issue."

While most of the youth of Romulus are "great kids," Cooper said, her job is to work with those children who are having problems with society, either at school, home or their neighborhoods.

"I have to try to add discipline to youths' lives, particularly when there is none at home," Cooper said. "Many times it entails seeking counseling for both the children and their parents."

"Youth officers are today given a lot of discretion. Thus sometimes I feel it best to release some youths with a stern warning and others with requests for counseling. However, the worst offenders are sent to juvenile courts for judicial review and determination," Cooper said.

Some recent local crime victims' families are trying to put pressure on various sources to have tougher sentences handed down by juvenile judges, particularly when youth are accused of crimes involving weapons (guns and knives).

Cooper also would like to see juvenile judges get tougher with youth even on lesser offenses. She also feels that additional support groups need to be created or enlarged to assist with today's juvenile justice crisis.

Is she a role model for youth?

"Well, I hope I am. But I have to project a tough image many times, so I'm not sure whether that's the image today's youth are looking for or not," she said.

Airport noise continues

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A Burton Street resident demanded to know Monday night, when Detroit Metro Airport officials were going to supply Romulus residents with some airport noise pollution relief.

Alan Bell, who said he has lived in Romulus for eight years, complained that local residents have been promised buyouts and other relief from airport officials for several years, but he has not heard of any in his area.

"We sit next to the busiest runway in the airport, and yet we have heard nothing from Metro Airport executives," he said. "On the other hand, we haven't heard much from our neighbors either, only airplane noise. This past Sunday we tried to talk outside our homes and constantly had to stop because of airplane noise overpowering our conversations."

"Noise is only one of the problems we face," Bell told Mayor Beverly McAnally. "The other major problem is vibration. Windows in my home have cracked, pictures and other family possessions have fallen off walls and shelves and still we hear nothing from Metro officials. Can't we even get a time frame when they plan to do something about it?"

McAnally, whose home is impacted by the same airport problems, agreed and urged that the council pass a resolution reminding airport and Wayne County officials that it is time to fulfill their long-standing promises and inform area residents of their intentions.

Airport officials nearly two years ago promised to buy or soundproof homes impacted by excessive airport noise and other pollution.

McAnally said it is definitely time for these hard-pressed families to get some response from airport officials so they too can plan their family's future.

The council agreed to such a resolution and urged that it be sent promptly.

Concert Planned

4 seek school seat in Westland

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Four candidates have submitted their nominating petitions for a four-year Wayne-Westland School Board term which will be voted on by the public in the June 13 election.

The candidates include Debra Fowlkes, who was appointed to the board in January, former school board appointee Sharon Felan, Roberta Paquette and retired assistant principal Gary Green.

In January, Paquette, Felan and Green applied for the board appointment to fill a vacancy. Fowlkes was selected to fill the vacant term previously held by board member Leonard Posey, who resigned due to an employment advancement. Fowlkes will complete her 5-1/2 month appointment June 30.

Fowlkes, a 37-year-old Westland resident, works as a patient account representative at Pediatric Health Care Association in Ypsilanti. She has been involved in the school district for eight years serving on the Superintendent's Advisory Committee, Schools of Choice committee and holding all offices of the Titus Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association (PTA).

Felan, a 45-year-old Wayne resident and former realtor associate, was appointed as a board trustee in July 1992. She is Schweitzer Elementary School PTA president, was on the Schools of Choice Committee and Public Act 25 school improvement team.

Paquette, a 46-year-old Westland resident, works part-time as a teller at First of America-Deaeborn and part-time as a sales associate at Mervyn's in Westland Mall. Paquette was also involved in the Stottlemeyer PTA, the Area Council of PTAs, YMCA and started the John Glenn's Boys Swim Team Booster Club.

Green, a 56-year-old Westland resident, is a former assistant principal at Franklin Junior High School who retired last June.

The Rev. Dr. J.D. Landis, one of the city's leading spiritual and community leaders, will be leaving Romulus in June to assume a pastorate at the Detroit Metropolitan United Methodist Church.

Landis, who has served as pastor of the Community United Methodist Church for the past seven years, will begin his new position on June 16.

Gayle Nash, chairperson of the church pastor parish committee, informed the local church members of the change in a letter last week and then with a formal announcement on Sunday morning.

Nash said United Methodist Church Superintendent Dr. Brent McCumons expects to announce the name of the next pastor within about six weeks.

In her Sunday statement Nash said, "We were blessed to have a man who exhibited as many strengths as Pastor Landis. Now we are being challenged to support our new pastor. I also urge you during this transition not to ask what the new pastor can do for you, but what you can do for the pastor."

Landis, who just returned from a brief post-Easter vacation, told his congregation, "This change is not what we expected, since pastors are usually never assigned to churches where they have previously served." Landis, a native of Pennsylvania, had earlier served at Metropolitan

Church in the early days of his Michigan ministry as youth and young adult minister

Landis will now be serving as first associate pastor with Dr. William Quick, an outspoken foe of casino gambling in Detroit.

Quick had sought out Landis, because of the many positive programs he had created or helped strengthen both in the church and in the community. Landis has helped coordinate numerous local inter-church activities and has been active with the Romulus Salvation Army and the Pro-Life efforts in southern Michigan.

Landis said he felt his time in Romulus had given him, "a unique preparation for the challenges I will face in his new Detroit assignment."

Landis and his wife, Carolyn, have two elementary school children, David and Bethany.

During their tenure here, Carolyn Landis has been active with American Red Cross blood drives and the Romulus-Bellefonte CROP walks, serving as the Romulus chairperson for many years.

Council meetings switch to court room

Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks welcomed those attending the City Council proceedings Monday night, saying this will be our "new home for the next seven months."

The gathering of more than 30 residents traveled to 34th District Court Chief Judge Felix Rogalle's office for the first of many Monday night council sessions.

City officials and residents chuckled briefly as the city leaders took unusual seats for the first session in their new surroundings.

Mayor Beverly McAnally sat in the witness chair. City Clerk Linda Choate used Rogalle's chair. Treasurer James Napierkowski used the chair to the left of Choate.

Banks sat midway in the courtroom in a chair usually used by Rogalle's court clerk.

The six remaining council members sat at two small tables at a lower level. The tables are normally used by the prosecutor and defense attorneys.

The other change in procedures during the transition is that those citizens speaking during the discussion period do not need to leave their seats. They are only asked to stand and speak in a strong voice.

Local cable officials said since the council sessions will not be televised live during this transition period, they will soon announce a video schedule. One of those times is expected to be 8 p.m. on Wednesdays of council meeting weeks.

2 charged in local parking lot assault

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Deputy News Editor

An April 15 arraignment on information has been scheduled for two Westland men charged with felonious assault and carrying a concealed weapon.

Wayne police arrested Frank D. Bell, 22, and Joseph M. Wiper, 18, who were allegedly involved in an assault incident at 2 a.m. March 18 in the Farmer Jack parking lot in Wayne.

Wayne Police Lt. Mel Drews said the incident is gang related.

"The victim and his friends were in the grocery store shopping when an argument took place," Drews said. "The argument continued outside, and at that point a gun was pulled on the victim. No injuries occurred."

Bell is charged with felonious assault and carrying a concealed weapon. Wiper is charged with felonious assault. Both defendants were arraigned March 19 and a $2,500 cash bond was set for each. They were referred to Detroit Recorder's Court for trial.

If Bell and Wiper are found guilty of felonious assault, they could each receive up to five years in prison.

Respectfully submitted,
Linda R. Choate, CMC, Clerk
City of Romulus, Michigan

I, Linda R. Choate, CMC, Clerk for the City of Romulus, Michigan do hereby certify the foregoing to be a true copy of the minutes of the regular meeting of the Romulus City Council held March 28, 1994.

Linda R. Choate, CMC, Clerk
City of Romulus, Michigan

Publish: April 13, 1994

Open letter to Romulus residents:

There has been a lot of talk at the council meetings about the injection well down in Vickery, Ohio. Percy Lilly has repeatedly compared the deep well project here in Romulus to problems at that site.

I saw the videotape that Percy took when he was in Vickery but it didn't show very much. I wanted to find out more for myself so I went to Vickery.

I called before I went and the people there were more than willing to set a time for me to visit the site. The man I met was Fred Nicar, general manager, and we spent about one and a half hours touring the site.

I saw where the trucks are parked while samples are taken and the lab where the samples are tested.

We then went to the building where trucks are unloaded, looked at the tank farm where waste is stored. I was even shown the operations room where everything is controlled and monitored. Records are kept using computers and paper charts just like at the hospital.

All outdoor lines are above ground and the injection pump and wells are in small buildings of their own.

Having listened to what Percy had to say I was surprised by how clean the place was. All the parking areas and floors are clean and there was no smell at all.

Mr. Nicar said there were lagoons a long time ago, that some people still talk about, but they've been closed for years and there hasn't been any problems since. He went on to say that the Vickery Deep Wells have never contaminated even a pint of ground water.

I didn't smell anything the whole time I was there.

Now that I've been through the place I'm sorry Percy didn't go in himself. He's had a lot to say about deep wells and it seems a shame to go all that way and not even go in.

Now that I've been through the place I'm sorry Percy didn't go in himself. He's had a lot to say about deep wells and it seems a shame to go all that way and not even go in.

I wonder if he's really interested in learning about Deep Wells or just repeating what he's been told by people who don't like them. I believe he should be more concerned about cleaning up the environment. Its better to inject waste deep below ground than to bury it on the surface.

I've been to one for myself now and I'm not concerned about having one by my house. I think anyone who wants to talk about Deep Wells should go find out for themselves before they start making speeches in public.

Sincerely,

John Ryznar

State Rep. Justine Barns

Veteran legislator to leave office after 31 years

Justine Barns is a woman with a reputation for having the courage of her convictions. And, the veteran lawmaker added more evidence to her reputation for action on her beliefs last week when she announced that she would not seek re-election to the state House of Representatives in November.

Barns, who has served in the state office since 1963, has been an elected official for nearly 31 years.

"I am going out on a positive note," Barns stressed. "I made my decision just prior to my campaign for re-election in 1992. I knew then that that was my last campaign and that this would be my last term. This isn't a decision you make overnight. I grieved then, but now, there is no sadness in my voice and no grief. I've had a good run and the people of Westland have been very good to me," she said.

Barns said that she told her staff members of her decision Wednesday, and that her family has known for some time. Barns, who was widowed in April of 1988 with the death of her husband, John, is the mother of two sons, Scott, 39, and Duane, 48 and the grandmother of two, Christie and Katie.

Barns began her political career, she recalled, as "that noisy broad from NorWayne," who was first elected to the Westland City Charter Commission in 1964. In 1966, she won her first term on the Westland City Council and in 1980 was elected as vice-chairman of the Wayne County Charter Commission. In 1983, she became a state representative and she will leave, she said, in 1995, just as she always recommended others should do.

"When you reach the peak in effectiveness, when the newness wears off, then it's time to go," she said. Barns has long been a proponent of 12-year term limitations for legislators and noted that she is living up to her own advice.

"I've always believed that it takes six or seven years to become effective as a legislator—to know who to go to to get things done—who will support you," she said.

Barns recalled that she lost her first bid for state office in 1970 and was told to "go home and take care of your babies."

"That was the attitude back then. Women were not taken seriously. I ran again in 1982—and by then my babies were in college so they couldn't use it against me," she recalled.

"The people of Westland have been good to me—I guess I'd say my greatest pride is in my term as president of the City Council in 1976 and 1977 in Westland and the building of two high-rises in the city during that time. In 1975, we established the Senior Services to the Aging—I have a lot of good memories," she said.

Barns list of accomplishments as a state representative, she noted, include keeping a prison from the old Eloise Hospital grounds despite the efforts of political heavyweights to install such a facility and the implementation of double bunking in jails against some extreme and powerful opposition.

"It was right then and it's right now," she said.

But Barns has the same disappointment and concern about state government today she did when she walked up the capitol steps 11 years ago.

"The bureaucracy. It's incredible."

"I've done some good things and I've been effective," Barns said, "and I'm going out when one should, on a positive note."

A little common sense goes a long way

By LOREN BENNETT
Canton Township Clerk

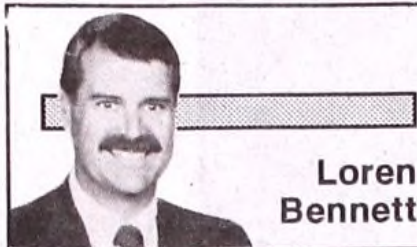

In case you missed last week's column, I've been talking about the need to create a better society by employing common sense solutions instead of government solutions.

That's the slogan I'll use if I ever need one - "Less Government, More Common Sense".

But I know that being right and having most people agree with me are not enough. If I can't find a way to convince the establishment sophisticates who often decide public policy, my stockpile of logic won't do me much good.

Many people become big-government advocates for the most honorable of reasons after they spend time in public-policy jobs.

They are being asked day-in and day-out to come up with new ways to make lives better.

Loren Bennett

Once you've done that for awhile, you can all into the trap of no longer thinking, "How can we minimize problems," and begin thinking, "How can we guarantee that there are never any problems?"

Well, you can't guarantee that. But some people are convinced they should try, and the only vehicle they see capable of making it happen is the all-encompassing power of government.

Don't like bad things? Pass a law against them. They're still happening? Hire more regulators to eliminate the things that are causing them.

That's big-government thinking, and you have to understand that before you start debating such people about the need to reduce the size of government.

If I were to debate a big-government, establishment sophisticate on the need for, say, eliminating price controls, I would say the following:

"Mr. Big-Government Establishment Sophisticate, I recognize that you have imposed limits on the price of taxi-cab rides, apartment rents, pharmaceuticals and many other things because you are concerned about people not being able to afford them.

"I salute you for that.

"In fact, I think I know a way to build on your good intentions and make them work even better. (Psst, readers, just between you and me, they don't really work, but you can catch more flies with a little honey. . .)

"Why don't we eliminate the extremely high taxes we are imposing on both the consumers of these things and the people who are selling them. Suddenly, it will be cheaper for the sellers to sell them and cheaper for the consumers to buy them.

"Then you can, technically, eliminate the controls, while actually manipulating people to buy and sell at the same low prices because you cut their taxes. And they don't even know they're being manipulated.

"Consumers' prices will still be low, but they'll think they got that way on their own, Mr. Big-Government Establishment Sophisticate. And only you and I will know that they owe it all to you.

"And I'll never tell. I promise."

SUBURBAN Living

Nancy and Richard Langert (top left) were the all-American couple expecting their first child. They were murdered April 7, 1990 by 16-year-old David Biro (middle) in Winnetka, Ill. Gera-Lind Kolarik (bottom left) said she always wanted to be a reporter even as a little girl. Her alternative career choice would have been law. ANP Special Photo

GRISLY STORY

Renowned author reveals truth behind what prompted a teen-ager to kill in

In her first book, Freed To Kill, author Gera-Lind Kolarik's in-depth investigation into a real-life crime resulted in the conviction of Larry Eyler as a serial killer. He was placed on death row for the murder of 22 men.

Now, in an effort to reveal the truth behind another tragic murder in the bedroom community of Winnetka, Ill., Kolarik takes readers on a roller coaster ride through the life of troubled teen-ager David Biro in I Am Cain.

The book reveals the thoughts of Biro and the circumstances that led him to take the life of a young couple he never knew. Nancy and Richard Langert had everything to look forward to including their first child.

The account is intriguing, not only because it is based on a true story of a senseless crime, but because the murders, investigation, and trial received international media attention, particularly when a judge ruled that Biro's family could be held accountable for their son's actions.

"I love police reporting, and as a young reporter, I covered as many as 1,000 to 2,000 murders as a City News Bureau reporter in a year," Kolarik said. "You're talking about an average of three murders a night. So, I learned to deal with the actual crime scene and how it upsets you, but how the police were able to take the evidence from a crime scene, reconstruct it and bring a person to justice."

Kolarik began her career as a freelance reporter for the Chicago Daily News. From 1975 to 1977 she worked for the City News Bureau of Chicago, covering police and political beats.

In 1977, Kolarik joined the staff of WBBM-TV, the CBS affiliate station in Chicago, as an overnight assignment editor, dispatching reporters and news crews to city and suburban fire and law enforcement stories. Three years later, she became daytime assignment editor for WLS-TV, the ABC affiliate station in Chicago,

"I AM CAIN"

text by Margo Dewey
design by J.P. Rhaesa

again specializing in crime and law enforcement.

"I left television in 1986 to write Freed To Kill because it was the one story that bugged me," Kolarik said. "Larry Eyler was a suspect in 22 murders. He was set free because the police did an illegal search and seizure and the evidence was suppressed, and then he killed again."

"As a journalist you see he is convicted of one crime, and everyone seemed to want to forget the other 22 murders of Eyler. Even my news director at the time said 'Gera forget it. They freed him.'"

Kolarik said when Eyler was arrested for the death of Daniel Bridges, she decided to leave television in order to investigate the other Eyler murders for Freed To Kill.

"I reconstructed all the other murders," Kolarik said. "Eyler was questioned on all the murders in the book."

Kolarik said she was intrigued with the Langert murder when it went to trial. She decided to investigate why a 16-year-old boy who was brought up in what appeared to be the average American family would want to kill.

"I saw all these motives in the newspaper—possible Irish Republican Army involved, drug smuggling," Kolarik said. "As a journalist I wondered what the real story is when everything dies down and they make an arrest. And, I wanted to follow through like I did with Eyler."

Kolarik did go to the trial of the Langerts in 1990. She said she knew there were other authors wanting to write the story.

"I made a deal with the cops that I wanted to take a look at what they did all the way up to the arrest of David Biro," Kolarik said. "Since that wasn't part of the trial, they could give it to me. I was six months ahead of everybody."

Kolarik said Biro received two life sentences in prison for the murder of the Langerts and the killing of their unborn child.

"This is a case where you not only have the legal system failing, but you have the mothers and fathers," Kolarik said. "You have a boy here who had everything—a beautiful bedroom, a house, his own car and his own credit cards."

"But, the one thing he was lacking was the basic family structure. Through this book you find out how he tried to poison his mother, father brother and sister. You see the progression of a boy getting worse since age 10. You see the development of a potential serial killer as a young boy."

Kolarik said she found out through her investigation that Biro was never punished for a number of wrongdoings by his parents because they continued to cover up for him.

"In his own words he told his psychiatrist that his parents allowed him to get away with a lot of 's---,'" Kolarik said. "They teach me that doing bad is OK.' So every time David did wrong, his mother and father hired a lawyer and got him off and the parents paid off whoever he did wrong to."

"So, what David wanted to do was commit the perfect murder. His heroes were heroes from movies. He imitated his heroes in the movie. One character in a movie he watched who was a killer wore a black trench coat. David wore a trench coat."

Other intriguing points in this true gripping story include a message Nancy Langert wrote in her own blood that has yet to be deciphered.

Who is Cain?. You'll have to read the book. I Am Cain is published by Avon Books. It is now available in paperback at all major bookstores.

Kolarik is already working on her third and fourth true-crime books. All of the books have been sold for movie options. They are also being translated to be sold in various countries throughout Europe.

Kolarik freelances for Family Circle and the American Bar Association Journal.

Another sad farewell

When veteran legislator Justine Barns this week announced her intent to leave public office after 31 years as an elected official, we could not help but feel a deep sense of loss.

Her decision, which she reached two years ago, adds to the loss of influence and seniority of elected officials our communities will see in 1995. Veteran Congressman William Ford, Senator Don Reigle, and the rumored retirement of State Sen. William Faust will leave a vast chasm where the influence, political savvy and seniority of these experienced political leaders have been wielded in the service of our communities. We cannot help but acknowledge the threat this loss of influence and prestige may pose to programs, progress and federal and state funding for development and projects in this area.

And, Mrs. Barns' announcement will only add to that loss. She has been a dedicated and effective public servant during her tenure, both in Westland city government and at the state level. Her contributions would fill the space allowed and her ability to choose her battles carefully and understand the political ramifications of her actions has been of inestimable value to this community.

And while we regret her decision, we must acknowledge it as evidence of her honesty and integrity. Years ago she stated that term limitation, if imposed, should be 12 years. And, now that her 12 years have elapsed, she is stepping down, with grace, dignity and the courage of her convictions. She says only that it is now time for younger people to step into the political arena and take over the job. No whining, no regrets and no self-aggrandizement about it. Simply a matter-of-fact statement of intent and a thank you to those who elected her and allowed her to serve marked her official announcement.

The accomplishments of Mrs. Barns will endure long after this campaign has been concluded and a new candidate elected. Her absence in state government will be a loss to those she served so well and with such dedication and integrity.

We wish her well and we will miss her greatly.

While the cat's away

While many of our readers are certainly tired of our criticisms of the conduct of the members of the Wayne-Westland school board—we cannot help but make one more plea to them to exercise some reason and dignity in an ongoing and potentially embarrassing situation.

This newspaper, under the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act, has requested certain documents from them. These are documents we are reasonably certain we have a right to and which we believe are a matter of public record.

To date, the stated reasons for not providing the information have been interesting—and if correct, legitimate. But we still suspect that, as in the past, and in light of the divisive board arguing and in-fighting, the reasons provided may not be well grounded in reality.

And while we have been, to date, more than cooperative and understanding, if this disregard for the law and the public's right to know is real, it follows a pattern of arrogance and ignorance established some time ago that must be corrected if the district is to survive.

The lack of a cohesive board and the evident friction among the members seems to provide the environment wherein administrators take matters of public policy upon themselves, rather than referring such matters to those elected to such responsibilities.

If the board members time and attention is diverted from public policy and into private agendas and factions, then the district taxpayers, students and residents are ill served. Voters, after all, didn't elect administration office personnel—but if those employees violate the law, it is those who were elected who will face the legal consequences of those actions.

We urge the board members to cooperate, establish goals and exercise control of the actions of administration personnel for whom they are, ultimately, responsible.

Global economy kills jobs

To the editor:

It was hypocrisy at the highest level! The G-7 "Jobs Conference" should have been called "Focus: HOKUM." There seems to be a reluctance among the G-7 nations, including the United States, to level with the public on this issue of jobs.

What's really killing jobs in the older industrialized nations is the Global Economy. The Global Economy has punctured many of the old assumptions upon which economists and politicians have relied for the last 60 years. Let me briefly explain.

In the 1920s and 30s a British economist named John Maynard Keynes established a system for thinking about the economy that has ruled economic and political thought ever since. Among the assumptions upon which this Keynesian Model of the economy is based is the idea that nations act as, sort of, hermetically sealed economic units. Professor Keynes could not possibly have anticipated the information and communication revolution of the 1980s - or the resulting globalization of the world economy. The globalized economy has punctured the old equilibriums and destroyed many of the assumptions upon which the Keynesian Model was based.

Put simply - In seeking labor, capital or knowledge modern corporations are free to ignore national boundaries to a degree never before thought possible. That is the real problem before us. Much of what the government tells us is based on the outdated economic model - which is why so much of it doesn't ring true. Globalization has changed everything!

OK - So what?

So cheap labor is infecting the older industrialized economies like a virus. You might want to call it the Hong Kong Virus. Europe and the United States have an unemployment problem not because their workers are stupid but because their workers won't work cheap. The politicians could never admit this publicly because it would be political dynamite. The politically correct solution? Job retraining.

In that respect the whole job retraining business is really a political diversion to take the public thinking away from the real problems facing the mature industrial nations.

The real problem then is not working smart but working cheap. For example, India is literally stuffed with highly-trained computer programmers, who will work hard all day for what we would call a hot meal and some spending money. Using this information a modern global corporation might want to configure itself this way - corporate headquarters in Maryland - a research and development facility in Ann Arbor and a large factory in India.

The idea that we need to somehow become a nation of rocket scientists is pure nonsense. And even if we did - rocket scientists is pure nonsense. And even if we did - rocket scientists but thousands of high value added industrial jobs making rockets. The real question challenging the G-7 nations is who gets to do the high value added unskilled and semi-skilled labor. So far, the answer seems to be - not us.

Job retraining will offer a few people a life jacket in the coming global economy - but our economic boat has millions of people in it. And most of them could not be retrained for so-called high-tech jobs in the U.S. - even if those jobs existed.

What we really need is a jobs conference on what happens to the millions of unskilled and semi-skilled workers if the industrial jobs that we have relied on for three generations do not come back. The unskilled labor question is a time bomb ticking away in the social fabric of the G-7 nations. And it must be addressed rationally and without wishful thinking. If we choose to ignore it - we do so at our peril - because the consequences could be explosive.

Alcohol safety stressed by local distributor

To the editor:

The month of April is becoming known across the country for something far more significant than April Fools Day or even Daylight Savings Time. April is also officially designated as "Alcohol Awareness Month", and has become a time for recognizing the kinds of things we can do all year long to fight problems like illegal underage drinking and drunk driving.

With prom and graduation just around the corner, now is a key time to talk with young people about the importance of respecting themselves and the law, especially when it comes to alcoholic beverages. That's why we at Central Distributors of Beer, Inc., Romulus distributor of Anheuser-Busch beers, make available free of charge to parents the "Family Talk About Drinking" program. Developed with authorities in education and youth counseling, "Family Talk" helps parents talk with their kids about family rules, respect for the law, and peer pressure. We invite readers to call us at 313-946-6250 for their free set of guidebooks. Readers outside the area can call Anheuser-Busch's toll-free number, 1-800-359-TALK.

As a nation, we have made great progress in addressing illegal underage drinking. According to University of Michigan research, drinking by high school seniors is at its lowest level since 1975, when the University began monitoring this trend. What's more, according to the U.S. Department of Transportation, the number of teenage drunk driving fatalities decreased 60 percent between 1982-92.

Let's work together with our children to keep this progress improving this April and throughout the 1990s.

President, Central Distributors of Beer, Inc.

Toxic waste disposal criticized

To the editor:

If you are disturbed at the revelations of the radiation experiments on unsuspecting citizens by the federal government, then you should be outraged by the fact that there is a massive radiation experiment now under way that places at risk, in a similar way, the entire Great Lakes Region and all of its citizens.

We are referring to the placement of high level nuclear waste in untested concrete casks 150 yards from the shore of Lake Michigan at the Palisades n-plant site. Eight casks and three metal baskets that contain the waste within the concrete casks were built before there was a certificate of compliance issued which would have established the criteria for their construction.

Although thousands of citizens and even State Attorney General Frank Kelley asked the Nuclear Regulation Commission for a public hearing, no hearing was granted and no environmental impact statement was provided. The Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) is licensing the facility for storage only with no provision for offsite transport. A Government Accounting Office report states that the NRC has decided that they can license these casks, or containment of these wastes in the spent fuel pool at the reactor site, for 140 years. (GAO/RCED 91-194, p.42). These wastes will remain highly toxic for thousands of years. The concrete slab on which the casks are paced is on shifting sand dunes in a "high risk erosion area", according to a permit issued by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Approval of these casks at Palisades allows them to be used with no public hearing or environmental impact statement at the 32 other reactor sites on the Great Lakes. Any accident would irreversibly contaminate the drinking water of millions of people and of thousands of industries that depend on their water supply from the Great Lakes.

Lake Michigan Federation finally decided it had to file a lawsuit, at considerable cost, just to ask for a public hearing on this issue. Attorney General Frank Kelley and Don't Waste Michigan have joined this lawsuit.

Write your political leaders to have this dangerous direction for high level radioactive waste disposal halted until a special commission is appointed by the President to examine the entire radioactive waste disposal policy of the country which does not protect the public at this time.

A-1 Transmissions offers nation-wide warranty

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Quality products and workmanship along with lifetime guarantees are the mainstay of A-1 Cottman Transmissions of Garden City, the first location to be opened in the national chain.

Owner Greg Hulce said that his six-member, state-certified repair crew services automatic transmissions, 4 by 4's, vans and recreational vehicles, clutches, drive shafts, imported vehicles and sports cars. Vehicles repaired at A-1 Cottman Transmissions are given a nationwide warranty, Hulce explained, as more than 145 A-1 Cottman shops are in operation around the U.S.

"If any problems arise on vehicles repaired in our shop, all the owner needs to do is call our office and make arrangements for emergency repairs," Hulce said.

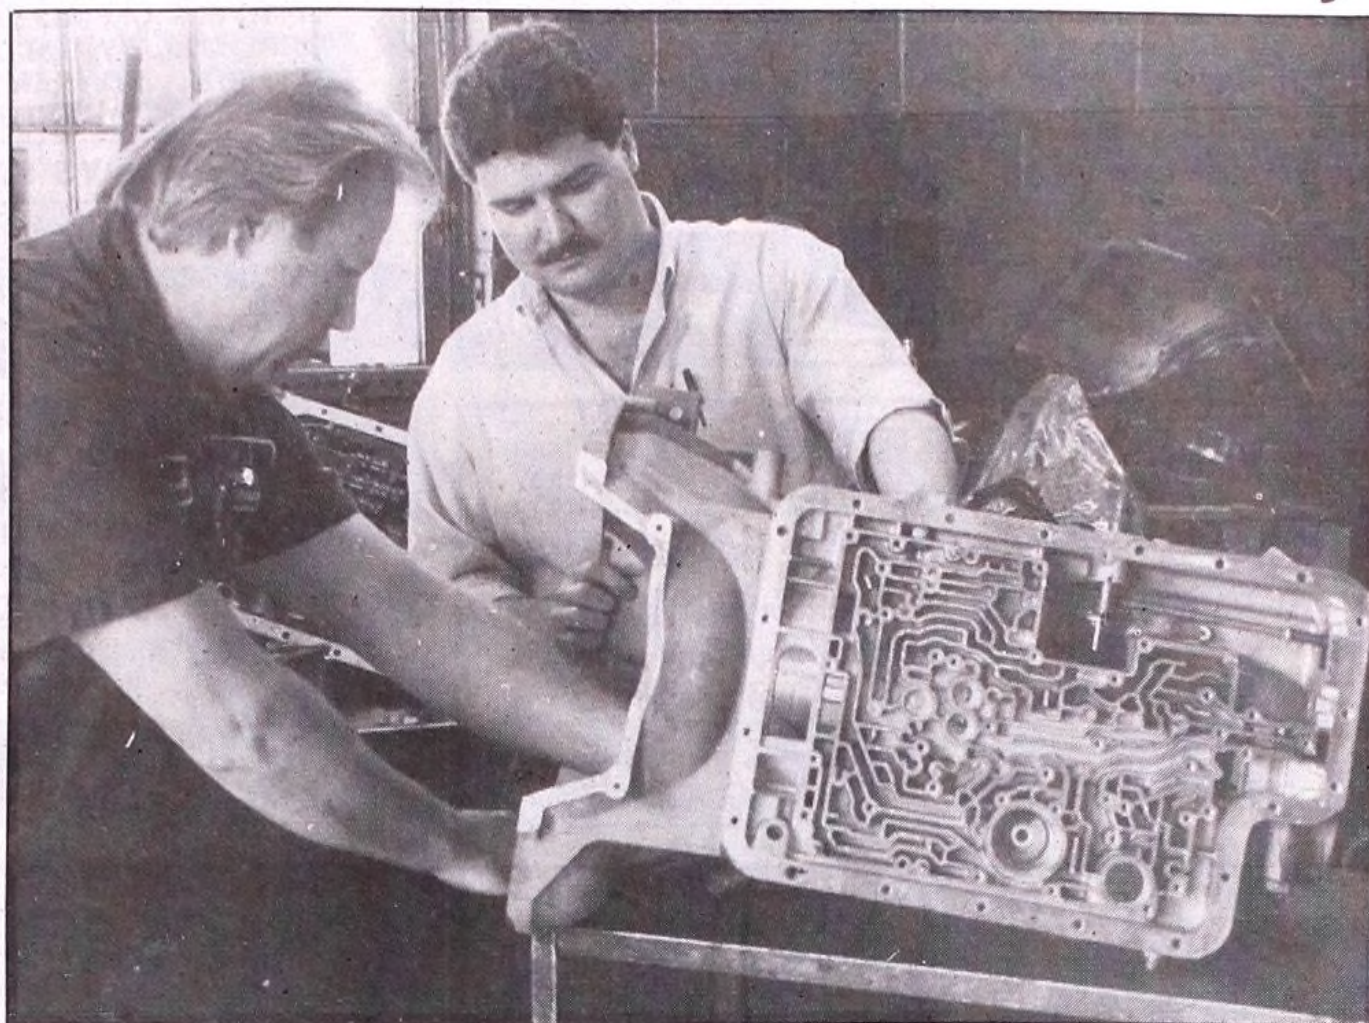

As a special incentive for Associated Newspapers VIP card owners, Hulce said he is offering 60 percent off all fluid changes.

A-1 Cottman Transmissions shop at 5939 Middlebelt Road in Garden City has been in operation since October 1973. Hulce, who was employed at the shop for the past six years, purchased the business last May.

"Our service crew members under the direction of Rob Kress, office manager, work on transmissions, axles, CV joints and rear axle assemblies," Hulce said.

One of our crew members, John Johanson, has been a state certified transmission re-builder for 23 years.

"We offer free towing on major repairs, free pickups and free rental cars during the repair time," Hulce said, "all customers need to do is check

Fair treatment is secret of success

Arthur Nelson, who has 34 years of experience in plumbing and heating, stands near one of the earth moving machines used in some commercial sewer installations. Nelson's company does residential work and is offering a 10-percent discount to VIP card holders.

BY LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

If it isn't broken, don't fix it, said Arthur Nelson of Arthur Nelson Plumbing and Heating.

A plumbing and heating veteran of 34 years, Nelson believes his business success lies in the way he treats his customers.

"I've always been fortunate enough to deal with people honestly," he said, "and that's all you have to do."

Nelson opened the doors to his Westland shop at 35526 Ford Road, one block west of Wayne Road, in 1961 after operating for one year out of his home. Nelson said he decided to go into business for himself after years of toiling for someone else.

"It felt better than working for someone else," said Nelson. "I've really enjoyed it. It's been a good 34 years."

Focusing on commercial and industrial contracts, Nelson said he has never turned a customer away despite his work load. Whether a job takes one day or one year, Nelson appreciates a diverse client base with contracts in Westland, Garden City, Livonia and Inkster. He also services residential needs.

Five employees are trained to work on new construction, water lines, sanitary sewers and parking lot drains, which are only a few of the services the company provides. Nelson also offers repair work.

Open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, the office receives job requests from all over southeastern Michigan said the plumbing and heating specialist.

"Reputation, more than anything else, causes them to call," said Nelson. "We get a lot of business from word-of-mouth."

"People think plumbing is expensive, but it's really not, because it'll last for 20 years," said Nelson.

For a limited time, Arthur Nelson Plumbing and Heating is offering a 10-percent discount to VIP card holders following a free estimate. To arrange an estimate call 721-6827.

Split decision

Wayne drops opener, bounces back to win

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

For veteran baseball coach Jim Chronowski, 1993 was not a good year.

Hospitalized early in the campaign with a heart ailment, the Wayne Memorial High School coach missed most of the season, and the Zebras finished with a 500 (11-11) record. They never figured in the last Wolverine 'A' Conference title race, which ended with Monroe winning it.

A year later, Chronowski is ready, healthy and optimistic even though the Zebras were assigned to the Mega Conference, Red Division, the toughest of the three (Blue and White) divisions.

"We have a young team," said Chronowski, whose club split with Fordson in the season opener last Thursday. "But we have some fine looking kids who could surprise a lot of teams. I am looking forward to the season."

In his 24th year as head coach - his 29th overall - Chronowski said that his health is excellent, and to keep it that way, he exercises regularly. He's also been ordered to take medication to control his blood pressure - and that's almost an impossible task for any coach, let alone Chronowski.

It a malaise that goes with the profession.

Like, on Thursday, it was almost impossible for Chronowski to keep his blood pressure under control. His team failed to score until the last inning, then came within a run of tying the Tractors, then fell short.

The Zebras rallied for three runs in the seventh and left the tying and winning runs on the bases in a 4-3 opening day loss to former Wolverine "A" Conference foe, Fordson.

Wayne came back with Shannon Green's one-hitter to subdue the Tractors, 9-0, in the nightcap.

But in that opener, Fordson erupted for two runs in the bottom of the second and added another pair in the third inning as

Glenn is the team to beat

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

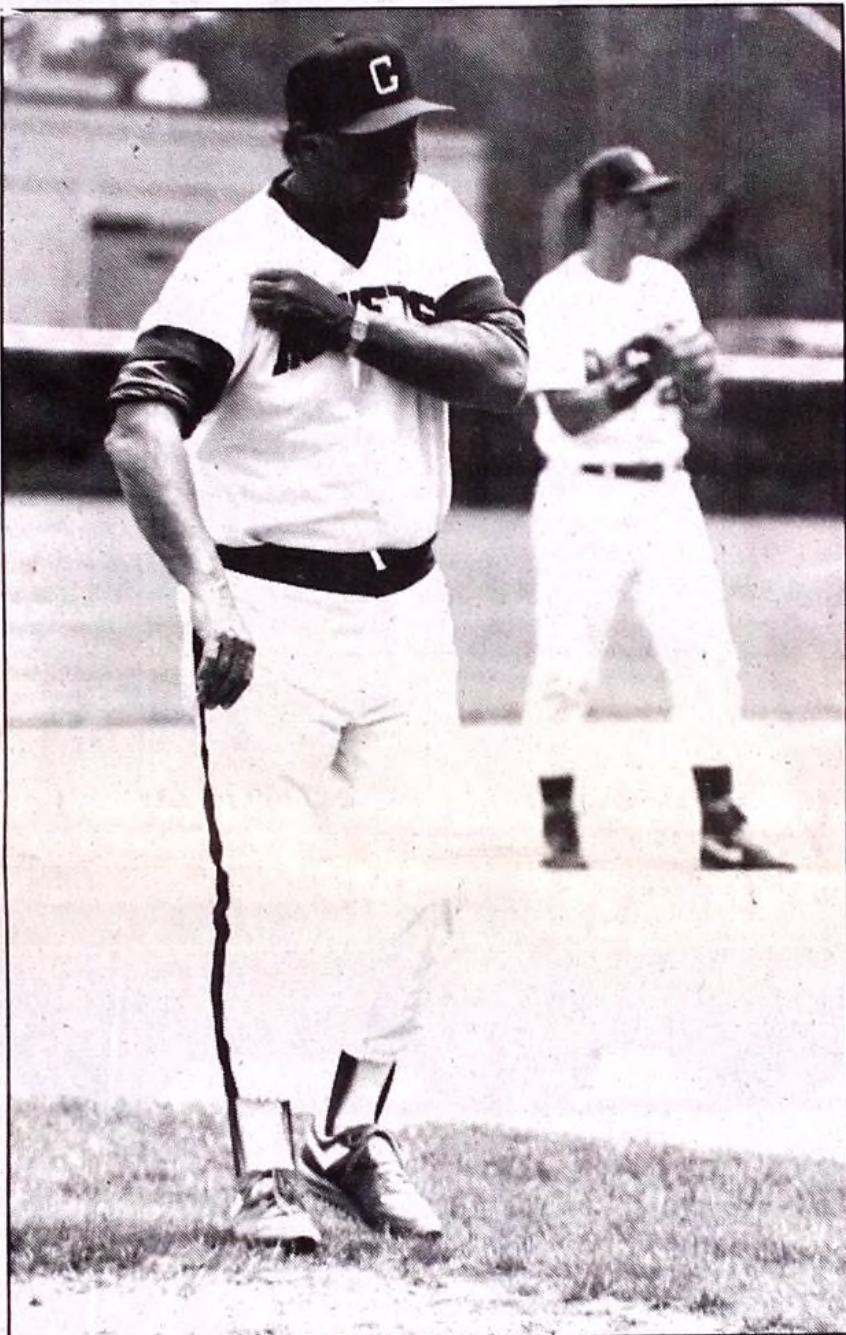

If you're looking for a solid title contender in high school baseball this year, look no further than Westland John Glenn.

With back-to-back appearances in the state "Final 4", and with the nucleus of a club that posted a 28-7 record a year ago returning, the Rockets definitely are the team to beat in this area, if not the state.

"It's no secret that we have the makings of a great team this year," said Glenn coach Norm Hoenes, who began his 28th year as head coach last Tuesday with a 9-1 victory over non-conference rival, Garden City High School. "The chemistry is there and these kids are excellent athletes."

But the seasoned coach also is quick to caution, "You can't live in the past. We're going to have to prove ourselves every time we walk on the field. And you know everyone is going to be gunning for us."

The Rockets have the Besco twins - Bryan (pitcher) and Derek (short stop) - along with Mike Bent (first, outfield), Brian Morrison (pitcher, outfield) Jake Henry (second base), Matt Howton (outfield), Jeromey Cosby (outfield), Nick James (catcher) and Jasen Ramsey (utility) returning from a team that captured their di-

With southpaw senior Bryan Besco on the mound for the season opener, the Rockets ripped Garden City 9-1 in an abbreviated game called in the fifth due to inclement weather.

Besco fanned seven and walked one before yielding to reliever Brian Morrison who pitched the last two

Belleville father-son team leads Winston racing pack

After the first day of qualifying for the Winston Select Invitational at Rockingham International Dragway, Belleville driver Scott Kalitta, driving the American International Airways Special, was at the top of the qualifying list.

Kalitta, 32, leads the pack with a 4.821 second elapsed time. He also holds Top Speed of the Meet with his run of 297.81. His father and teammate, Connie, is in the number eight position in his American International entry with a 4.999 second run.

Connie, 56, won the inaugural Winston Invitational in 1989. Scott is the defending champ. They are the only father-and-son team to have won this event.

The team will have two more qualifying runs for final positioning in the eight-car field.

Scott's elapsed time, along with his speed of 297.81 mph, are both track records.

By virtue of the ladder system on which pairings are based, the fastest father-and-son team in motorsports could meet in the final round of the $469,415 event providing they get past the first two rounds of competition.

The two met in the final round of the Mac Tools Gatornationals last month with Connie taking his first win national event victory since 1986.

Both father and son are past winners of the Winston Select Invitational.

Connie won the inaugural event in 1989, and Scott surfaced as the winner last year.

Final elections for the Winston Select Invitational were to be conducted on Monday.

The competition is a non-championship points earning event and does not affect the current standings. Scott is in the number one position in the championship standings while Connie is seated in the number three slot. The next points-awarding event for the team will be staged April 21-24 at the Fram Southern Nationals in Atlanta, Ga.

Blend of 'young and old' to make Zebras competitive

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A combination of five returning letter-winners and a new crop of young players may make Wayne Memorial High School players somewhat more competitive on the softball diamonds this season.

"We lost eight seniors to graduation," said Wayne coach Vicki England, who is in her fifth year as head coach, "but I believe that we have a couple of talented sophomores and a freshman who could step in help us this year."

"We also have five returning letter-winners, and the combination young and old gives me the confidence that this team is going to be more competitive."

The newcomers to England's lineup are Sherri Dahl, a sophomore pitcher who has an excellent arm, and Karen Romej, an infielder who comes from a family of athletes. Freshman Michelle Henn will see action in the outfield.

The returning veterans include senior co-captains Erika Cox, who won both the Wayne games in a 2-12 season a year ago. She is the key to the Zebra pitching rotation that will also include Dahl. Lisa Putty, senior short stop, also will serve as a co-captain and is one of the top team hitters.

Behind the plate, England will go with Kristin Kneip and Shannon Harmon and Crystal Bradley will handle the first and second base jobs.

It won't be easy for Wayne in the inaugural Mega Conference. The Zebras are assigned to the Red Division, the top division in the conference. They will be up against such state powerhouses as Taylor Kennedy and Taylor Center, which have excellent summer softball programs.

"That is something we lack at this time," said England. "These schools cash in on playing summer ball."

The division also includes Belleville, which has two Class A state championships to its credit; Monroe, Wyandotte and Garden City.

If weather permitted (rain was predicted for Tuesday), Wayne was scheduled to meet Taylor Truman yesterday in its season opener. They will travel to John Glenn for a 3:30 p.m. Thursday meeting with their arch rivals.

Coach to crack whip at Tigers

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville High School baseball coach John Bertz gave his players seven days off for the spring break, but you can bet, he says, "that it will not happen again."

For Bertz's generosity, the Tigers responded by committing a total of nine errors in losing a doubleheader, 5-0, and 4-1 to Ann Arbor Pioneer in their season opener.

"I made a mistake," admitted Bertz, "and it's not going to happen again. I told the kids that practice was optional during the Easter break. And most of them took off. Those seven days off really hurt us."

Bertz vowed to correct the situation, and the correction was to begin on Monday.

"We have no excuses for the way we played against Pioneer."

Pioneer exploded for three runs in the top of the fifth inning to rout starter Jeremy Gray from the mound in the first game of the twin bill. Gray was tagged for two runs, gave up five hits and struck out three before yielding to teammate Chris Jamnick who finished up.

Pioneer hurler Joe Bailey was rough on the vacationing Tigers, who managed two hits off the winner. Bailey, in carding his first win, fanned seven and walked one.

He gave up the two hits - both singles - to Rodney Komaromi and Brian Dick.

In the nightcap, Pioneer broke a 1-1 tie with three runs in the sixth to hand Ralph Truitt his first loss of the season. Truitt looked good in the five innings he worked as he notched five strikeouts, walked three and allowed only one hit before Chad Parker took over.

Parker was the victim of a porous Tiger defense that committed three errors in that three-run sixth.

Belleville players collected their first and thus far, only, run of the season in the bottom of the fifth when Gray lead off with a walk, stole second and third then scored on a catcher's throwing error.

Belleville is back in action today. The Tigers will take on Willow Run in an away game then, on Thursday, host Livonia Franklin, before playing a doubleheader on Saturday at Ypsilanti High. The first game is slated to begin at 11 a.m.

Despite the disappointing start, Belleville could become a major player in the battle for the inaugural Mega Conference Red Division title. Although they finished fourth in the last Wolverine "A" Conference campaign, (they were 23-8 on the year) the Tigers have a handful of veterans who could make them contenders in their new league.

"We will rebound," said Bertz. "We have five seniors and 10 juniors and a sophomore on this club. And they can be winners."

Romulus remains an 'independent' baseball club

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

There will be no conference baseball title for Romulus High School this season. Maybe in 1995, but definitely not in 1994.

The 1994 ball club will play as an "independent" again, as it has for the past five years. However, in 1995, coach Don Foley and the Eagles will probably find themselves in the Mega Conference and in one of the divisions - Red, White or Blue.

An out-of-court settlement assured the school district that it will be permitted to join the conference next year.

Also, unlike a year ago when the Eagles played 28 of their 29 games on opponents' diamonds because their field was being repaired, this year Romulus players have a "home field" to call their own.

"We also have lights (at the field), so we will be able to host night games," said Foley, who is in his fifth year as head coach and is coming off of a 12-18 season. "There are a lot of positive things happening around here and we would like the momentum to continue when we become affiliated with a league."

Snowed and rained out last week, Romulus has a busy week, weather permitting. The delayed 1994 campaign will begin today at 3:30 p.m. on the home turf against Taylor Kennedy. Then, on Thursday, the Eagles will host Dearborn Fordson before traveling to St. Clair Shores Lake Shore on Friday.

With six lettermen returning to the lineup, Foley said that he feels the 1994 Eagles should improve from last year. But pitching remains a question mark, he admitted.

"We really don't have an experienced pitcher in this group," he added. "We're going to have to see who can step in and get the job done."

Three sophomore - Ryan Evans (shortstop and pitcher); Nick Locklear (infielder) and Mike Deaton (catcher - infielder) are among the top starting candidates.

Rounding out the team are Ray Blackburn (outfielder); James Loftos (first base); Tim Roberts (second) and outfielders Roger Maynor and Joe Hojara.

singled. Czarnik flied out, leaving Chamos one-out away from the win. Shannon Green kept the suspense going when he drilled a two-run double.

But Chamos collected his third and final out on a strike out to retire the side and chalk up the victory.

Wayne pounced on Chamos in the second game as the Zebras exploded for 11 hits in a 9-0 victory. Green helped his cause with a pair of runs batted on a single and double. Cox checked in with two doubles and scored three times while Duckett also had two doubles and scored once. Snow finished with a couple of singles.

Green, a junior righthander, missed the no-hitter when he gave up a single in the fourth inning. He notched 18 strikeouts and walked four in his inaugural appearance on the mound this year.

Glenn

innings and gave up an unearned run.

On Saturday, the Westlanders participated in the Ypsilanti Acme Glass Invitational where they routed Willow Run 12-0 in the first of what was supposed to be a two-game invitational. In the other bracket Toledo Start buried Ypsilanti 10-0 and was to meet Glenn for the championship.

However, the game was cancelled because of rain, and Hoenes said that he did not know when the two teams would play for the title.

"Toledo Start is ranked in the top 20 in the country," Hoenes said, "they have an excellent team this year. We talked about playing the game at EMU, (Eastern Michigan University) but no date has been set."

Incidentally, Glenn has not been overlooked by the national ratings. The Rockets are ranked fourth in the midwest.

Willow Run pitchers had their problems getting the ball over the plate against Glenn as the pair of Flyer hurlers walked 12 and gave up six hits. Morrison one-hit the Flyers, giving up a single in the third that robbed him of the no-hitter. The senior Glenn pitcher struck out five and walked two for the win.

In the Western Lakes, Hoenes sees perennial power, Plymouth Salem, as a "team that is always tough to beat."

And in the conference, defending champ, Canton, will be another obstacle in any coach's dream to win it all.

Although Wayne is scheduled to host Glenn on Thursday, the game will probably be played on the Rockets' field. The Wayne diamond apparently has drainage problems and with rain due in the area for Tuesday and Wednesday, the Zebras probably won't be hosting any one until there is a dry spell.

On Friday, Glenn will travel to Livonia Stevenson and on Saturday, Hoenes and the Rockets will be at home for a doubleheader with Canton. The first of the two games will get under way at 11 a.m.

Glenn also will be getting a first look at the defending champs' new coach, Ed Turek. Turek replaces Mark LaPointe, who resigned after leading the Chiefs to the title in his first and only year as head coach.

Congressman's former aide announces bid for office

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

After several weeks of speculation that the former aide of U.S. Congressman William Ford would seek the 13th district post, David Geiss announced his candidacy on April 5.

In a speech in front of the William D. Ford Vocational/Technical Center in Westland, Geiss said he is running for Congress "because I want to help the many families in Michigan and the 13th District who worry about how they will get by in the next few years.

"Our world is changing so quickly - the constant struggle to keep our families safe, healthy, educated and employed becomes harder and harder every year. Many families live in fear that illness or injury will wipe out everything they have worked for. We worry also that someone we love will be the next victim of violent crime," Geiss said.

Geiss, who was born in 1942 in Philadelphia, Pa., moved with his family to Dearborn, Mich. in 1949. He graduated from Fordson High School and later attended Henry Ford Community College. He served in the U.S. Army Reserve for four years.

From 1973 to 1979, Geiss served on the Taylor City Council. In 1982, Congressman Ford appointed Geiss to be his campaign manager, and following his election, Geiss was hired as chief of staff for Ford in Washington, D.C. On April 1, he officially began an unpaid leave.

Geiss said four issues are extremely important in this campaign: jobs, education, health care and crime.

"One of my top priorities in Congress will be job training and re-training with the main focus being on education,"

Geiss said. "New computers, materials, manufacturing processes are constantly demanding new skills. This creates a tough demand on older workers. For many years, they could be secure as long as they did their job well. NOW, they must update their skills or else take lower paying jobs while accepting a lower standard of living. We need to show business leaders that these workers are worth the investment to retrain, the need to get them into vocational re-training either in the workplace or in night school."

them the basis skills they will need for a lifetime of learning," the candidate said. "Third, we want to be sure everyone has access to affordable health insurance."

Geiss said his wife, Jacqueline, was diagnosed with leukemia seven years ago, and, after intensive treatment, is now in remission. He said he wants to see all workers get coverage that will see them through the expense of an unexpected illness, problems. Geiss said more is needed to keep guns out of the hands of criminals and kids.

"We must try to prevent violence before it happens, by teaching our children to resolve conflicts," he said.

3 face trial in baseball-bat attack on local man

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Three Westland man, charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm in the beating of a 36-year-old Garden City man about the head and body with an aluminum baseball bat, are scheduled for a July 27 jury trial before Detroit Recorder's Judge George Crockett.

John Robert Young, 20, is accused of wielding the baseball bat, striking the victim in the back and head. Brothers Richard Anthony Nastal, 21, and Ryan Allen Nastal, 19, are accused of holding the man down during the beating and also kicking and punching the victim.

All three defendants were released on bond and face a maximum of 10 years in prison if convicted.

Officers discovered the victim, Basil Douglas Buck, 36, lying on the garage floor of his cousin's home bleeding severely, according to Westland police reports. The victim, who was transported to Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, received 20 stitches to his head and suffered a severe concussion, Westland police Sgt. Marc Stobbe said.

Young's neighbor Leary Glinski, 50, who lives on the 6300 block of N. Wayne Road, testified in Westland 18th District Court that he was confronted by Richard Nastal who came to his home demanding money allegedly owed to Young by Glinski's live-in nephew.

Nastal allegedly left the home some five minutes later, threatening Glinski he would return. Glinski called police to make a report and around 11 p.m. Nastal returned with his brother Ryan Nastal and Young, Glinski testified.

While Glinski was arguing with the men outside his home, the nephew allegedly telephoned police and his cousin, Buck the subsequent victim, to come help.

Buck testified that when he arrived at the home, he saw the disagreement become hostile, grabbed an aluminum bat from behind his car seat and approached the men, holding the bat behind his back.

"I saw some people getting nice and heated. That's when I pulled the bat out and approached," Buck said.

According to testimony, Richard Nastal saw Buck and ran toward him at which point Buck swung the bat hitting Nastal's legs in an effort to protect himself.

Nastal then began wrestling with Buck and Ryan Nastal jumped on Buck's back.

Glinski attempted to "calm" the attackers.

"I stepped between them and grabbed Ryan by the back of the jacket and pulled him away. He was swinging his fists at Doug (Buck)," Glinski said.

However, Glinski added, Ryan got back into the fight and he noticed Young had the bat.

Buck testified that he was hit on the back of the head when he attempted to get up and kicked in the face while being held down. As the victim attempted to crawl into the home, one attacker struck the victim three more times on the head with the bat, police reports said.

"After the first one in the head, I don't remember how many times I was hit in the head. I thought I would be killed. It took me three days just to get my consciousness back," Buck testified.

Students seek 'moms' for one-day visit to work

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

Thirty students from Inkster High School and Blanchette Middle School are seeking women to serve as substitute moms on April 28, the second annual Take Our Daughters to Work Day (TODTWD).

Millions of girls, between the ages of 9 and 15 are expected to take part in the program which brings them into workplaces to introduce them to employment opportunities and career choices.

"Some of the girls' mothers don't work outside the home, and they need to be paired with a woman volunteer so that they can participate in TODTWD," said YWCA Program Director Mary Wooten. "Last year, we had a pharmacist, three engineers from Ford Motor Company, school administrators, a physical therapist, the Inkster city clerk, a district court judge and a newspaper writer.

"This year, I'm contacting the FBI office and the Michigan State Police to see if they want to participate," said Wooten. "We are looking for female volunteers who can provide a day-long visit in the workplace for one of our girls."

Wooten said the 30 girls and their mentors will meet at the YWCA in Inkster for a continental breakfast, and then go to their places of business. They will return to the YWCA in the afternoon, and the girls will be transported back to their schools at the end of the day.

"If someone would like to support the program, but cannot be a mentor, they can still assist us by providing a donation for our breakfast or by contributing gifts for our students," the program director said.

"The girls are members of the Y-Teens at the two schools, and I get positive feedback from them all the time about their experiences at the last TODTWD. They are anxious to try new experiences this year," she said.

Wooten said last year she had to explain the concept of TODTWD to prospective mentors, but this year she finds that most people are familiar with the idea.

"We're looking forward to our 1994 experience, and we plan to have a bigger and better TODTWD each year," she said. "Our program can be a great opportunity for working women without daughters.

Individuals who wish information on participating in the program or making donations may call the YWCA of Western Wayne County at 561-4110."

Judge sets calendar in suit against well owner

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

After ruling on a number of pre-trial motions last Monday and Tuesday, Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Claudia House Morcom adjourned the planned zoning trial which will decide the fate of the hazardous waste injection well owned by Environmental Disposal Services (EDS) in Romulus.

While no date was set for the trial, Morcom did set up a calendar for the opposing sides on the issue of summary disposition in connection with the city pre-emption on the 4,000 feet deep well issue.

City of Romulus attorneys have until April 15 to file a brief on the issue stressing that neither the national Environmental Protection Agency nor the state Department of Natural Resources permits pre-empt city zoning regulations.

Then EDS attorneys have until April 22 to file a counter-brief citing that such state and national regulations do take precedence over city zoning ordinances.

Either side then has the right to respond to the opposition motions until April 29.

Morcom also set May 3 for oral arguments on the issue and attorneys for both sides say she could render her decision on the pre-emption issue at that time.

If Morcom issues her decision in favor of the city position, EDS would then be forced to appear before the Romulus Zoning Board of Appeals if it wishes to proceed with work at the well site. It is the city view that the EDS-leased property is not in the right zoning area for injection wells.

“... so all our offers to the city of Romulus are still on the bargaining table. Since the judge has adjourned the trial, our offers remain alive.”

If, however, the judge supports the EDS position, the city could be forced to appeal her decision to the state Court of Appeals.

EDS President Douglas Wickland said it has been incorrectly reported that the zoning trial has begun. “In reality we have only heard pre-trial motions to this point,” he said, “so all our offers to the city of Romulus are still on the bargaining table. Since the judge has adjourned the trial, our offers remain alive.”

Wickland earlier had said that EDS would consider giving the city a 5-percent royalty on annual sales, offer certain jobs to local residents and even assist local educational programs. But he has vowed all the offers will be taken off the bargaining table the day the trial actually begins.

Son-in-law admits attack

A 32-year-old Westland man, charged with beating his elderly father-in-law about the head with a frying pan during a family argument, pleaded guilty to the reduced charge of assault and battery before Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Craig Strong.

Dion Gene Gullett was originally charged with felonious assault, which carries a maximum sentence of five years in prison if convicted. Gullett, who is scheduled to appear for sentencing on the misdemeanor charge April 26, faces up to 90 days in jail.

The assault occurred around 5 a.m. when Gullett returned from work to his family home located on the 34000 block of Cowan Road, Westland police Sgt. Donald Haigh said.

A verbal confrontation began between Gullett and his wife when Gullett's 61-year-old father-in-law, who was visiting at their family home, approached the couple with an aluminum frying pan in hand, Haigh said. While the victim was attempting to come to his daughter's aid, Haigh said, Gullett allegedly disarmed him and hit him over the head approximately four times with the pan.

The victim was later treated and released by a personal physician suffering a “very large contusion,” Haigh said.

According to police, Gullett's wife was not physically harmed during the attack.

Former store manager is charged with theft

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

A former Westland store manager, accused of embezzling more than $50,000 from the Tri-County Mattress store where he was employed, pleaded nolo contendere to the charge of embezzlement over $100 in Detroit Recorder's Court.

Jeffrey Richard Metz, 38, was released on a $5,000 personal bond pending his sentencing on the charge April 27. Metz faces up to 10 years in prison on the charge.

Westland police Sgt. Jay Deschanes added that Metz could also be required to pay some or all of the money back in restitution if convicted.

Metz, who told police during his arraignment that he is working at a mattress store in Racine, Wis., can leave the state, but must keep Deschanes informed of his whereabouts on a weekly basis.

Police arrested Metz shortly after a letter written by Tri-County owner Roger Blum in early February was sent to several local and county officials. Blum, who owns five area stores including the Westland store located at 38411 Ford Road, was concerned that the embezzlement report he filed with Westland police in mid-September was not being handled in a timely manner.

“We don't make zillions of dollars.”
- Roger Blum

Following the distribution of the letter to Westland Police Chief Emery Price, Westland Mayor Robert Thomas, the Wayne County Prosecutor, Wayne County Sheriff and the Michigan State Police, Metz was charged with embezzlement over $100.

“Jay Deschanes called me immediately at home on the 10th and we were in the prosecutor's office on the 14th,” Blum said.

Metz, who became employed at the store as a store manager in October 1992, was discovered to have allegedly embezzled some $50,000 cash and $39,000 in merchandise from the store which he managed over a six-month period, according to Blum's letter.

Blum said he discovered the embezzlement activity after his six-month company audit revealed the funds were missing.

“We don't make zillions of dollars. We only receive about $40,000 to $50,000 a year in profits (per store). That's two years that he took away from me,” Blum added.

Romulus man faces prison in assault

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

A 19-year-old Romulus man, accused of hitting an 18-year-old Westland man in the face and neck with a 12-gauge shotgun, pleaded guilty to the reduced charge of aggravated assault in Detroit Recorder's Court.

Perry Hayes Ledford, who was released on a $10,000/10 percent bond pending sentencing April 26, was originally charged with felonious assault which carries a maximum sentence of four years in prison. Ledford faces up to one year in prison on the misdemeanor charge.

Ledford was arrested around midnight on Oct. 30, 1993 at a 7-Eleven store, located at 172 S. John Hix Road in Westland, according to Westland police Sgt. Steve Ryskamp.

The victim received stitches to his forehead and police photographs of the man's neck show a circular cut made by the barrel of Ledford's gun, Ryskamp said.

The incident occurred when Ledford and three other individuals drove up in a blue Camaro and a confrontation began with the victim and another individual who were occupants of the victim's car, Ryskamp said. When the discussion became heated, Ledford and the victim got out of their respective cars with weapons in hand.

4 team awards from school

Four area school board members were among 78 trustees receiving honors from the Michigan Association of School Boards.

Honorees were Lorenzo A. Moner, Jr., Inkster Public Schools, Award of Merit; Mary King, Romulus Community Schools, Award of Distinction; Eleanor S. Wright, Westwood Community Schools, Award of Merit, and Susan Ward Callahan, Van Buren Public Schools, Certified Board Member Award.

Cited for excellence were the Van Buren Public Schools, Wayne County Regional Education Service Agency and the Westwood Community Schools, all of which have at least 50 percent of their current members attaining the Award of Merit.

The victim told police he grabbed an aluminum angle-iron from the back seat of his vehicle because he feared for his safety when the attacker produced a shotgun, Ryskamp said.

“(The attacker) hit him three or four times in the forehead and in the neck,” Ryskamp said.

Although Ledford reported the gun was not loaded during the incident, police discovered rounds of ammunition in his car, Ryskamp said.

'A jewel'

'Vast' laughs continue at historic Gem Theatre

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

A jewel of a comedy is continuing on stage at the Gem Theatre.

Jeff Daniels' play, Vast Difference, has been so well received since its mid-February opening that it is being held over. Therefore, if you missed the delightful comedy during its initial run, you've got another chance to see it.

The play was originally staged at the Garage Theatre in Chelsea, the home base of Jeff Daniels' Purple Rose Productions, in October of 1993 and played to sell-out crowds during its 14-week run.

Subject of the play is the plight of George Noonan - a flight attendant and the father of five daughters - who is facing a decision on whether or not to have a vasectomy.

An abundance - or overabundance - of women surround him. His career is in a female-dominated field and even his urologist is a woman.

Noonan, played by John Siebert, would like to have a son. His wife, Rita, portrayed by Jean Lyle Lepard, does not want to have any more children.

Predictably, the play center around the changing roles of the American male and the conflicts around his own manhood and masculinity. To resolve his present dilemma, Noonan re-opens his past with the question, "Were things as good as we remember them, or do we remember them better than they were?"

Laughs abound in the play as Noonan seeks answers to his question and completes his quest.

Guy Sanville capably portrays Noonan's father and other roles were played by Peter Bellanca, Daniel C. Jacobs

The Gem Theatre is located across the street from the Fox Theater, and the box office is open from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. daily and on weekends from noon to 4 p.m. Ticket information can be obtained by calling 963-9800.

Jr., Wayne David Parker and Brian Schulz.

While all of the cast were outstanding in their roles, the performances of Seibert and Janet Maylie as the urologist merit special recognition.

Another "star" of the show, is the 450-seat theater itself, which was originally designed for the Twentieth Century Club in 1927 and first dubbed the "Little Theatre." Later known as Drury Lane, Europa, Cinema and the Vanguard Playhouse, it was named The Gem in 1967 and operated as an adult movie house until purchased in 1984 by developer Charles Forbes. The theater was restored to its original appearance with all historical details authentically replicated and opened with The All Night Strut on New Year's Eve, 1991.

Play-goers will be delighted to find that there are no bad seats in the house. The front row of the mezzanine is just 25 feet away from the actors and the last row of seats are within 40 feet of the stage.

At long last

It took some time, but State Senator William Faust finally received his official plaque naming him Associated Newspapers Person of the Year, an honor he was awarded in February. The plaque was delayed in production and last week Publisher Susan Willett, above, presented the official symbol to Faust at his Westland home. ANP photo by Ken Garner

How much did you lose last year on nondeductible interest?

7.50% APR.*

FIXED RATE

Maybe you've noticed it while getting your taxes ready. All the interest you've paid on consumer loans that's not deductible.

Well, now's the time to think of a strategy for next year's taxes. And consider borrowing against the equity in your home.

At First of America, we can lock you into a low fixed 7.50 percent APR loan with terms of up to seven years. To make the offer even more attractive, all fees will be waived, so there will be no annual fee, appraisal fees, closing costs or points. And you'll have a fixed monthly payment that will never change. The sooner you take advantage of it, the more you can save on financing home improvements, education, a car or anything else worthwhile. You can even refinance a loan that you have somewhere else.

Be sure to consult your tax advisor to make sure the interest is tax deductible.

We can give qualified applicants fast approval—usually within 24 hours.

So stop by any First of America office or call for an application or more information. And make last year's nondeductible interest a thing of the past.

World's Most Powerful

Slow Drain Cleaner

Imagine how thick the "ring" in your bathtub would be if it wasn't cleaned since your house was built. That is how thick the gunk in your pipes is. No wonder you have slow drains!

Most of your drain pipes are horizontal like your tub. If you pour a drain opener into the tub, it just runs along the bottom. The thick seum ring on the sides is left behind. That happens in your pipes, too!

Build-up

Plumb Clean® is an exclusive, highly concentrated powder. It clings and attaches to the build-up. Plumb Clean® then penetrates into the build-up and biodegrades the soap scum, grease, food particles and other waste leaving your pipes clean and trouble free.

Plumb Clean® contains Plurazyme™, the most powerful enzyme complex available. In fact, Plumb Clean® was rated Best Buy by a leading consumer magazine.

Plumb Clean® is so safe a child can use it. That makes it good for the environment too! It's so revolutionary it's money-back guaranteed!

So get safe, guaranteed Plumb Clean® today!

CITY OF BELLEVILLE ORDINANCE NO. 94-296 AN ORDINANCE TO ESTABLISH A SYSTEM OF REGISTRATION FOR RENTAL PROPERTY, OWNERS, MANAGERS AND AGENTS OF SAME, LOCATED WITHIN THE CITY, PROVIDE FOR INSPECTIONS AND CERTIFICATION OF RENTAL PROPERTY, AND A SYSTEM OF FEES AND PENALTIES FOR THE ADMINISTRATION AND VIOLATION OF THIS ORDINANCE.

ARTICLE I TITLE AND PURPOSE

Section 1.1 This Ordinance shall be known and be designated as the City of Belleville Rental Property Inspection Ordinance.

Section 1.2 The purpose of this Ordinance is to provide for the health, safety and welfare of the people within the City of Belleville, by registering and inspecting rental property to enforce compliance with building, safety and fire codes.

ARTICLE II DEFINITION

Section 2.1 All terms used in this Article shall be defined in accordance with the Housing Law of Michigan (PA 1917, 167, as amended).

Section 2.2 The terms "owner", "property", "person", "premises", "occupant", and "structure", shall be defined in accordance with Section PM-201.0 of the BOCA National Property Maintenance Code, as adopted by Belleville City Ordinance Number 93-290.

ARTICLE III REGISTRATION AND INSPECTION

Section 3.1 No person shall rent, lease or let any real property within the City of Belleville, unless the rental property is registered with the City Manager.

Section 3.2 Each year, the "owner" of any "premises" or "structure", except and "owner" occupied single family dwelling, or an "owner" occupied commercial building, shall register with the City of Belleville, their name, place of residence or usual place of business, and the location of each "premises" regulated by this Article. At the time of registration, the "owner" shall pay an annual registration fee of Twenty-Five Dollars ($25.00) for each "structure" registered. If the "premises" are managed or operated by an agent of the "owner", the "owner" shall furnish the agent's name and address at the time of each annual registration. The "owner" shall also furnish any other information required by the City. Failure of any "owner" to comply with the provisions of this Section, deprives the "owner" of the right to receive a Certificate of Occupancy for each "premises" or "structure" which is not registered.

Section 3.3 (a) The City Manager or designee, shall inspect all buildings, structures, dwellings and units required to be registered under Section 3.1 of the Ordinance within sixty (60) days of their registration. Thereafter, the City Manager or his designee, shall inspect every building, structure, dwelling or unit at two (2) year intervals. These inspections shall be for the purpose of determining whether the building, structure, dwelling or unit complies with building, safety and fire codes currently in effect by City Ordinance. The City Manager or his designee may request permission to enter any "premises" regulated by this Ordinance, at reasonable hours, to undertake an inspection. Upon an emergency, the City Manager may obtain a court order for the purpose of inspecting any "premises" regulated by this Ordinance. All inspections conducted pursuant to this Section shall be conducted in a manner as to secure with compliance with this Ordinance.

(b) In addition to periodic inspections, the following may occur:

1. a complaint basis such that a regulated "premises" shall be inspected within a reasonable time by the City Manager, upon receipt of a complaint, verbal or written, by a citizen or tenant that the regulated "premises" may be in violation of City Ordinance;

2. an area basis, such that all regulated "premises" in a predetermined geographic area will be inspected simultaneously or within a short period of time;

3. a reoccurring violation basis, such that those "premises" which are found to have a high incidence of reoccurring or uncorrected violations, will be inspected more frequently. The property owner shall insure that the "premises" regulated by this Section, are accessible for inspection during normal working hours of the City, except that an occupant of the "premises" may allow an inspection at any time.

Section 3.4 (a) If an "owner", "occupant" or other person in charge of a "structure" subject to the provisions of this Ordinance, refuses, impedes, inhibits, interferes with, restricts, or obstructs entry and free access to any part of the "structure" or "premises" where inspection authorized by this Ordinance is sought, the administrative authority shall be permitted to seek, in a Court, competent jurisdiction, an Order that such "owner", "occupant" or other person in charge, cease and desist with such interference.

(b) In non-emergency situations, if the "owner" or "occupant" demands a warrant for inspection of the "premises" the City Manager shall obtain a warrant from a Court of competent jurisdiction. The City Manager shall prepare the warrant, stating the address of the building to be inspected, the nature of the inspection as defined in this Section, or further applicable codes or statutes, and the reason for the inspection. It shall be appropriate and sufficient to set forth a basis for inspection (e.g. area, complaint, reoccurring violation or periodic basis) established in this Section. If the Court finds that the warrant is in proper form and in accordance with this Section, it shall be issued forthwith.

Section 3.5 (a) The inspection procedures set forth in this Article are established in the public interest to secure the health and safety of occupants of dwellings and of the general public.

(b) The City Manager shall keep a record of all inspections.

(c) The City Manager shall make available to the general public, a check list of commonly reoccurring violations for use in examining "premises" offered for occupancy.

(b) The "owner" and the occupant shall be notified, in writing, of the existence of a violation and shall be ordered to correct the violation as provided in the Code.

(c) The City Manager shall reinspect after a reasonable time for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not the violation has been corrected.

(d) If any Certificate of Compliance or temporary Certificate for occupancy is revoked because of the condition of any dwelling unit, the registered owner or agent may appeal such revocation to the extent allowed by law.

Section 4.2 (a) When a Certificate of Compliance has not been issued, been withheld of been denied, pending compliance, "premises" which have not been occupied or are not occupied for dwelling purposes, shall not be occupied, and those "premises" which are occupied for dwelling purposes, may be ordered vacated until reinspection and proof of compliance, at the discretion of the City Manager.

(b) A Certificate of Compliance shall be issued on the condition that the "premises" remain in a safe, healthful and fit condition for occupancy. If upon reinspection, the City Manager determines that the conditions exist which constitute a hazard to health or safety, the Certificate shall be immediately revoked as to the affected "premises" and the "premises" may be vacated as provided in paragraph (a) of this Section.

Section 4.3 (a) A Certificate of Compliance shall be issued only upon inspection of the "premises" by the City Manager or his designee, except as provided in Section 4.3(c) hereof. The Certificate shall be issued within fifteen (15) days after written application, therefor, if the dwelling at the time of application meets the requirements of the City building, maintenance, safety and fire codes.

(b) A violation of the code shall not prevent the issuance of a Certificate, but the City Manager shall not issue a Certificate when the existing conditions constitute a hazard to the health or safety of those who may occupy the "premises".

(c) In case of new construction, inspection shall be made prior to the first occupancy. Such "structure" shall be first re-inspected within three (3) years and thereafter at two (2) year intervals. Upon a finding that there is no condition that would constitute a hazard to health and safety of the occupants and that the "premises" are otherwise fit for occupancy, the Certificate shall be issued. If the finding is of a condition that would constitute a hazard to health or safety, no Certificate shall be issued and in order to comply with the applicable code shall be issued immediately and served upon the "owner" and in accordance with Section 5.1 hereof. Or reinspection and proof of compliance the Order shall be rescinded and a Certificate issued.

(d) Upon finding that there is a violation of an applicable code but that the violation does not constitute a hazard to health and safety of the occupants, a temporary Certificate shall be issued, but such Certificate shall not affect enforcement of the violation under this Article.

Section 4.4 (a) An "owner" shall apply for a Certificate of Compliance before any regulated "premises" may be occupied by any person other than the "owner". Inspection and issuance of a Certificate shall be in accordance with the requirements of this Ordinance and with procedures established by the City Manager. The City Manager may authorize the issuance of a temporary Certificate for occupancy, without inspection for those "premises" in which there are no violations of record as of the effective date of this Ordinance, and issue such temporary Certificates for occupancy upon application in cases where inspections are not conducted within a reasonable time. Temporary Certificates for occupancy shall also be issued for "premises" with violations of record, whether existing before or after the effective date hereof. When the "owner" can show proof of having undertaken to correct such conditions, or when an "owner" rehabilitation plan has been accepted by the Court.

(b) An application for Certificate shall be made:

(1) When the "owner", or his agent registers the property with the City, or

(2) When sixty (60) days prior to the automatic expiration of a Certificate of Compliance, but no less than thirty (30) days prior to such Certificate expiration.

(a) If, upon inspection, the "premises" or any part thereof are found to be in violation of any of the provisions of this Ordinance, the violation shall be recorded by the City Manager.

(b) The "owner" and the occupant shall be notified, in writing, of the existence of a violation and shall be ordered to correct the violation as provided in the Code.

(c) The City Manager shall reinspect after a reasonable time for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not the violation has been corrected.

(d) If any Certificate of Compliance or temporary Certificate for occupancy is revoked because of the condition of any dwelling unit, the registered owner or agent may appeal such revocation to the extent allowed by law.

Section 5.2 This Article shall not limit or eliminate any rights of action at common law or any enforcement of statutes regulating the subject matter of this Article.

Quote of the Week

"Dr. Cortada did not build something to disappear when he goes to his next job. What he has put into place will continue to exist."

Commented Wayne County Community College Trustee Ted Scott on the resignation of highly respected WCCC President Rafael Cortada.

Of Note

Taylor man killed in Romulus

A 45-year-old Canton High School maintenance man was fatally injured last Saturday night, when his car overturned twice and he was thrown onto the roadway on Inkster Road in Romulus.

Romulus police department reports indicate that Billy Edford Clay of Taylor was traveling at a high rate of speed about 6:40 p.m. April 9, while driving south on Inkster Road, north of Northline, when he lost control of his 1990 Chevrolet Cavalier.

Clay was not wearing his seat belt, according to accident reports, and was tossed out of the vehicle as it flipped over twice.

He was pronounced dead at Heritage Hospital in Taylor.

It was the third traffic fatality in Romulus this year.

Belleville man killed in crash

A 22-year-old Belleville man was killed at 1 a.m. last Sunday when his car went off the road and hit a tree.

The vehicle caught fire following the crash on Rawsonville Road, south of Judd Road, and Brian Keith Morgan died as a result of the incident, according to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

Services were conducted for him Wednesday at the Pawlus-Roberts Brothers Funeral Home in Belleville.

Man found guilty of robbery

An Ypsilanti man charged with unarmed robbery recently received a two- to-15-year prison sentence in Detroit Recorder's Court.

Paul White, 35, was arrested by Wayne police for allegedly assisting Cherry Deann Taylor, 27, from Romulus, and Valerie Evette Shelby, 38, from Inkster, in an unarmed robbery incident which occurred last September.

The three defendants allegedly took $20 from a male and female victim at a home in Wayne on the 3500 block of Gloria Street, according to Wayne Police Lt. Mel Drews.

Wife changes plea in husband's stabbing

A 34-year-old Westland woman, who entered a guilty plea to involuntary manslaughter in the stabbing death of her 35-year-old husband, withdrew that plea in Detroit Recorder's Court Friday and asked for a trial date to be set. Leslie Jill Hicks who will face a pre-trial examination before Recorder's Judge William Lucas on April 29, faces trial on second-degree murder charges. Held on a $100,000 cash bond, Hicks faces up to life in prison if convicted.

Hicks confessed to police that she killed her husband, Teddy Lynn Morris, who suffered a single stab wound to the chest at approximately 3 a.m. on Sept. 18, 1993. The stabbing occurred on the back deck of the Hick's home, located on the 5800 block of Linville Street in Westland, according to Westland police.

The accuser became the accused Wednesday as a 41-year-old Inkster man, who said he was viciously beaten by Inkster police, was ordered to stand trial on assault with the intent to do great bodily harm less than murder.

Darren Lacey, wearing sunglasses to hide bruised and blackened eyes that he said police had inflicted upon him and walking with the aid of a cane, was bound over to Recorder's Court after a 1 1/2 hour examination conducted before Judge Sylvia James in the 22nd District Court.

On March 21, Lacey appeared before Inkster City Council and told the mayor and lawmakers that he was beaten up by Inkster police for no obvious reason.

However, during court testimony, it was revealed that one of Lacey's former girl friends may have inflicted the wounds after she was pounced on and beaten by Lacey, according to court testimony.

Wayne County Assistant Prosecutor Lawrence Talon asked the judge to amend the original complaint against Lacey-malicious destruction of property over $100- by adding attempted murder charges.

But, during the course of the hearing, the prosecutor failed to provide sufficient evidence to support that complaint, James said.

However, Talon did get the judge to agree that there was sufficient evidence shown that Lacey should be charged with assault, a felony that carries a 10-year sentence upon conviction.

Lacey appeared in court to answer to malicious destruction of property. The charges stem from an incident that occurred on March 20 involving the former girl friend.

The girl friend, Sharon Stanton, 42, her right hand wrapped in a bandage and a splint on her left, testified during the examination that she had known Lacey for approximately 12 years and that the defendant had telephoned her about 10 p.m. on March 20.

"Lacey called me and said he wanted to come over to spend the night," Stanton told the court. "I

Painful loss Trees to be planted in memory of twins

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Two Westland parents who expected to bring their 6-month-old child home from the hospital after his premature arrival last September, received devastating news when their infant son fell ill with pneumonia and died in late March.

The loss of baby Kaleb Byrd was especially traumatizing to parents Kerry (Dixie) Byrd and Laurie Hawkins of Westland, who also lost Kaleb's twin, Kile, who was stillborn.

As the couple was preparing for the homecoming of their young son, Associated Newspapers published an article about the amazing survival of Kaleb, who was born five months prematurely on Sept. 15, 1993 weighing a mere 1-pound, 5-ounces.

Initially concerned their child wouldn't survive, the couple announced the birth of their son in February, bought baby clothes and began setting up a room to welcome Kaleb to the family.

Kaleb Byrd, whose expected birth date would have been Feb. 15, was being kept on oxygen and medication for chronic lung disease at the neo-natal intensive care unit at Annapolis Hospital when he began having bronchial spasms in early March. The infant, weighing 5 pounds 6 ounces, was transported to the University of Michigan (U of M) Hospital

Stabbing victim's body found

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The barefoot body of a 30-year-old Lansing area man was found about 8 a.m. Wednesday in an open field on Cogswell Road south of Ecorse in Romulus. An autopsy revealed the victim had been stabbed to death about 12 to 24 hours earlier.

The victim, Ronald Clark Pasko, was identified by his Indiana family members Thursday morning. He was a Purdue University graduate, who earned an engineering degree. Pasko was divorced and was working as a motivational specialist with a company in the Lansing area, police said.

Detective Sgt. Dan Snyder stated the victim's family members reported Pasko had been living in Delta Township, just outside Lansing, for about a year. Prior to that he lived in Indiana.

Pasko's body was dressed in a red turtleneck shirt and jeans when he was found by a citizen Wednesday, Snyder said. The body had been stripped of all identification but information found nearby ultimately led to the identification.

Mr. Pasko's car was found abandoned on Route 69 on the Michigan side of the Indiana border.

Pasko's death is listed as the third Romulus murder.

Examination set in shooting

The preliminary examination for a Wayne man charged with second-degree murder and felony firearm was adjourned to April 18 before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold.

A $250,000 bond was set for Bruce Edward Buford, 23, who allegedly shot to death 20-year-old Wayne resident Richard Daniel at his aunt's home at the Hickory Hollow complex March 29.

Testimony from various witnesses is expected to be revealed during the examination.

Mace bomb routs students, faculty

By JENNIFER PLACINTO

Two pepper spray mace bombs set off at John Glenn High School on Tuesday routed students from the building and sent seven students and one teacher to a hospital for treatment of breathing problems.

An 18-year-old John Glenn High School student has been suspended pending a due process hearing to determine further disciplinary action after he admitted to releasing two pepper spray mace bombs in the school Tuesday morning and afternoon, according to Wayne-Westland Assistant Superintendent of Schools Gary Dell.

Following the release of the second bomb, 1,800 students and faculty were evacuated from the building and 120 students were attended to by emergency personnel from the Westland Fire Department, Dell said.

A total of seven students and one teacher were transported to area hospitals for breathing difficulties where they were treated and released, according to Dell.

The first of two pepper bombs was released in the school around 10:30 a.m. when an "offensive odor was detected," and the second at 12:55 p.m. when emergency personnel were preparing to leave the scene, Dell said.

Three emergency units, 15 Westland police officers and 10 members of the Wayne County Hazardous Incident Response Team (HAZMAT) responded to the scene.

The first bombing, which effected three classrooms, was determined not to be toxic and a couple of students were sent to the hospital for breathing difficulties, Dell said.

After the second pepper mace spray was released, administrators pulled the fire alarm and evacuated the building shortly after 1 p.m., sending students and faculty home for the remainder of the day, Dell said.

"Another one went off. This one was more widespread and everyone was still on site. We decided it was too hard to function and called the buses," Dell said.

According to Dell, investigators suspected that some sort

Man to stand trial in stabbing death

By TOM MOORADIAN

A 33-year-old Westland man, who Inkster police say fatally stabbed his friend while driving in his car, is competent to stand trial for first-degree murder, according to a Wayne County forensic expert.

David Michael Koras, flanked by his court-appointed attorney, stood Wednesday before 22nd District Court Judge Sylvia James and learned his fate.

Koras was told that he will face a court examination in the Feb. 16 stabbing death of Wayne resident Dwayne T. Tindell.

Judge James read into the court records that, according to a forensic report prepared by Edith Montgomery, Koras is capable of understanding and assisting in his defense.

James ordered Koras to be conveyed to Wayne County jail and held there until May 2 when he will appear in the in Ann Arbor where he later died of pneumonia on March 29.

Before contracting the illness, Kaleb was scheduled to undergo a minor hernia operation at U of M before he could return home with his anxious parents. The infant, who had already undergone two successful eye surgeries to improve his vision, had been through four hospitals since his birth in Finley, Ohio while his parents were on vacation.

The parents have three other children, ages 4, 17 and 19, who helped the couple through the trauma of the newborn's health.

"They really got involved with Kaleb. They fed him, they held him, they supported him," Hawkins said.

Describing their experiences as parents of a premature child, Hawkins said, "There are a lot of ups and downs, mentally and physically."

"It's happy, it's stressful, it's encouraging. You go through states when you have lots of energy and the next day you're wiped right out," Hawkins said.

"It brings a lot of closeness to a family, too," Byrd added.

Kaleb Byrd was buried at Pilgrim Home Cemetery in Arcadia, Michigan where Hawkins brother and parents were buried.

Dear mama,

We took time out from playing in the StarDust to tell you some things that we think are really important.

Though Kile didn't have as much time as I did we both will always feel your precious love. MaMa I told Kile how soft your hands were when you touched me. I could always feel your tender feelings for me. Kile said he could feel it too because we are twins.

We loved the music and stories you always read us. We loved rocking with DaD and sitting in his big cowboy hat. We loved watching our big brother ANTHONY jump around. We always felt his excitement. We liked it when our sisters, Kristy and Tonya, held us. Remember we are twins so we both could always feel our families love.

Even though we are not with you now MaMa we will always feel your warm loving touch. We hope you will feel ours.

Thanks for always being such a great family for us. We will love you forever.

said no because I had a girl friend over."

According to Stanton, Lacey made two subsequent phone calls and was told he couldn't come over because she had company. Later that same evening though, Stanton said she agreed to meet the defendant "and he said that his car was having problems and that if he didn't get there to come and look for him."

Stanton said that she fell asleep while waiting and, when she awakened, she discovered that Lacey didn't get to her house. She borrowed her friend's 1990 Escort and went looking for the defendant. She said she eventually made it to Lacey's home on North River Drive where she noticed two cars, one owned by the defendant, and a second vehicle parked in the driveway near the garage door.

Stanton said she knocked at the door and then at Lacey's bedroom window, but there were no responses.

As she headed toward her vehicle, Lacey, dressed in a robe, appeared and asked her "What are you doing here?"

At that point, Stanton said she glanced up and noticed a "lady in the bathroom window."

Stanton said she tried to get into her vehicle, despite Lacey's protestations that "It's not what you think, baby." Lacey said the woman was a friend of her daughter's.

The witness then said she tried to get away from the scene and may have come close to running Lacey over with her vehicle.

"I started the car. He came toward me. Called me names. And I just wanted to get away," Stanton said that Lacey repeatedly said that "It's my daughter's friend. It's not what you think." I was frightened. Scared."

Stanton said she drove on Avondale to Inkster Road, with Lacey following in his LaSabre Buick. She said that she pulled into a 76 gas station and discovered it was closed. The witness testified that Lacey pulled up behind her in his car and began ramming her vehicle into a wall.

"I put my car into park and began to pray." She said that Lacey rammed her car at least five or six times.

She said that she managed to maneuver her car out of the gas station and headed down Avondale with Lacey again in pursuit. She said they were intercepted by Inkster police cars and got out.

"He got out first," Stanton continued her testimony. "He said 'I'll kill you, bitch' and socked me in the face with his closed fist. I socked him in his eyes - I hit him two or three times."

Inkster police officer Carey Born testified that all of the officers at the scene were in uniform and in marked cars, and that Lacey resisted arrest.

Upon cross examination by Lacey's attorney, James O'Connell, who asked the Inkster police officer "Did you recall that he (Lacey) was hollering that she has a knife?"

Born replied "No."

Lacey was released on a personal bond. He is to appear in Frank Murphy Hall of Justice at 9 a.m. on April 22 to answer to the charges.

Dell added that the evacuation was dangerous for special education students, some of whom are medically fragile and had to stand outside in the cold.

According to Assistant Westland Fire Chief Mike Reddy, use of the chemical analysis team coupled with the other emergency and police personnel was extremely expensive for the county, costing up to $10,000 for the run.

"The fire folks are interested tremendously since the chemical analysis team is a lot of cost to the county," Dell said.

According to Assistant Fire Chief George Riley, each fire department in the county provides the HAZMAT team with two firefighters and pays for those individuals out of city funds.

"Each man receives specialized training. We have to Koras and Tindell apparently drove to the south side of Inkster to purchase drugs. While on Inkster Road, Koras, the passenger in Tindell's vehicle, began to argue, according to Inkster police. Police would not reveal the reason for the argument, but according to a reliable source, the argument was over drugs.

Police said that Koras pulled a knife and stabbed Tindell, fatally wounding him. Tindell lost control of the vehicle and slammed the car into a display window at the Ebony

Barber Shoppe.

Three men came out of the store to see what was going on and tried to give assistance to the injured. Tindell reportedly told one of the men to "take care of him (Tindell), he's in bad shape." He then attempted to walk away from the accident scene.

Man admits diamond theft

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Charged with stealing more than $17,000 worth of jewelry from a store inside Westland Center, a 33-year-old Detroit man pleaded guilty to first-degree retail fraud before Detroit Recorder's Judge Michael Sapala.

Gregory Jackson, who is being held in jail for parole violation, could be sentenced to a maximum of two years in prison and/or a $1,000 fine.

According to police reports, the perpetrator entered Helzberg Diamonds, located at 35000 W. Warren Road, around 10:18 a.m. on March 8.

The perpetrator entered the store and asked to see a specific employee who had apparently shown the jewelry to him on an earlier date, police said. He then asked to see a 4 and 5-karat diamond tennis bracelet.

After looking at the bracelets, police reports said, the man told the 40-year-old jewelry saleswoman that he did not like the 5-karat bracelet and would rather see a 6-karat bracelet.

While keeping her hand on the bracelets lying on the counter, the woman removed a 6-karat bracelet. The thief grabbed both bracelets and ran toward an exit on the south side of the building, police said.

The perpetrator fled the mall with the two 14-karat gold tennis bracelets valued at a total of $17,650, according to reports.

One witness was walking near the jewelry store when he heard a woman yell, "Stop him." The witness began to pursue the man and saw him enter a light blue or green Dodge Shadow car, fleeing west on Warren Road.

Resident to face trial in stabbing

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

A 39-year-old Westland man, accused of stabbing another man three times in a dispute about a $5 wager, is scheduled for an Aug. 8 jury trial in Detroit Recorder's Court on the charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm.

Clayborn Douglas Dean has been held on a $50,000 cash bond since threatening the victim following an 18th District Court preliminary exam in early March. Dean pointed to the victim and said, "I'll get you," as he was being escorted to lock-up, according to court officer Dave Gillies.

If convicted, Dean faces a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison.

The alleged incident occurred after the 31-year-old victim was invited into Dean's home, located on the 32600 block of Menominee Street in Westland on Feb. 17. According to the victim, Kenneth Holt of Wayne, the two met each other through a mutual friend and decided to wager $5 that Holt would not drive Dean's car to a nearby gas station without a license plate affixed to the vehicle.

Holt took the bet, drove the car to the gas station and paid $5 for gasoline, he testified. When they returned to Dean's home, the victim confronted Dean about the $5 he owed for the wager. According to testimony, Dean did not pay the $5, and when Holt came toward him, the two began to wrestle in the living room.

Sometime during the wrestling match, Dean stabbed the victim with a 4-inch blade, once in the back and in both of his sides, Holt testified.

"I was stabbed in my love handles, which I now call my lifesavers," the victim testified as he pointed to his sides.

After the impact, Holt testified, he broke the knife in Dean's hand suffering another cut to his hand.

Jean Schmidt aids a patient at Oakwood-Canton Health Clinic.

Hospital assistant brings help to others

BY LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

Just because you retire does not mean you should stop going to work according to one local resident.

Jean Schmidt decided to spend her days volunteering at Oakwood-Canton Health Clinic after retiring from Bendix Aerospace in Ann Arbor.

"You can only watch so many soap operas," Schmidt said, "and I worked in the health profession before I went to Bendix. I also had a friend who worked here."

Schmidt has been comforting patients and families for more than a decade at the health clinic and has experienced the emotions felt by those she tries to comfort.

"Sudden deaths are the saddest," she said, "If you have a patient that has been ill and the family knows, it is not as hard as if you have a child that is rushed here from school because they hit their head and you have to call the family and tell them their child had an accident."

Volunteering at a health facility is not an appropriate job for everyone, said Schmidt, because of the emotional responsibility. Volunteers need to be able to deal with the public.

"Although it's not a job ev-everyone can do, everyone should try and see if they can do it," she said emphasizing that hospitals could always use more volunteers.

Volunteers at Oakwood-Canton Health Clinic do not need to have prior experience and are able to set their own hours.

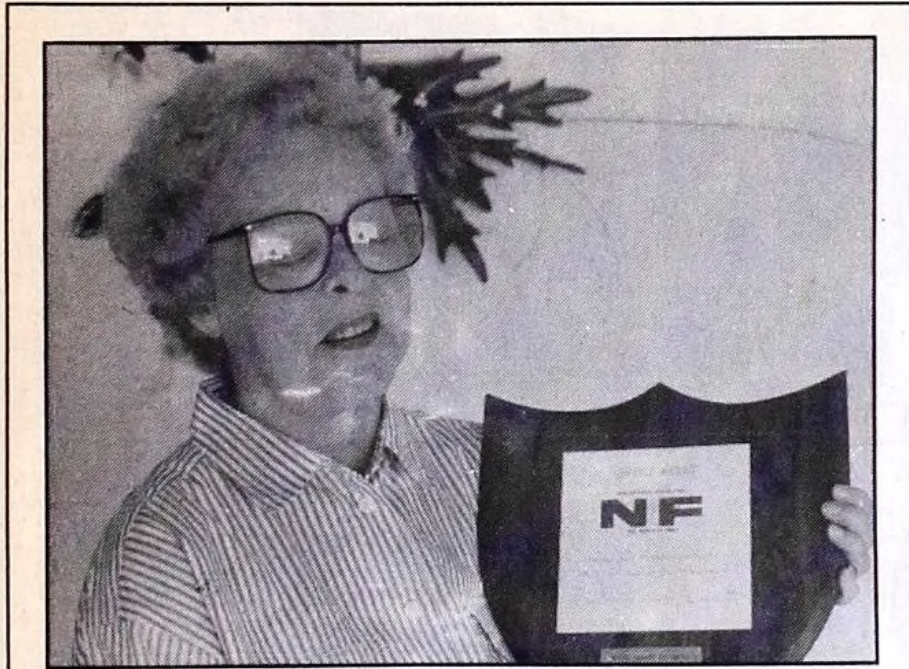

"We do request however, that they do at least four hours a week," said Schmidt. "I currently do 16 to 18 hours per week."

Schmidt's duties include changing bed linens, conducting a free blood pressure screening clinic on Saturdays, training new volunteers and "doing anything to assist doctors and nurses."

The woman believes she has made a difference and built long-standing relationships in her more than 8,500 hours of volunteer service.

"I've built relationship with the staff, patients and family members," Schmidt said, "and sometimes seeing a familiar face (at the clinic) is good."

To show their appreciation to Schmidt, patients always remember her at Christmas and never forget her birthday. From the health clinic, the outstanding volunteer has received numerous pins thanking her for time and concern.

Hats off to volunteers!

Communities thrive on willing, helping hands

During the next seven days, the contributions of an estimated 94 million volunteers across the nation will be honored.

National Volunteer Week, April 17 to 23, honors those whose efforts are valued at more than $176 billion annually. Many worthy programs and projects in our communities would not be possible without the helping hands of dedicated volunteers.

Each day, hundreds of local people unselfishly give their time to help in the schools, churches, civic groups, fraternal organizations and community endeavors. For most of the volunteers, their only reward is the satisfaction of knowing that they have contributed a valuable service to their communities. Seldom is there thanks or recognition for their services.

We cannot shake each hand, pat each one on the back or say a personal "thank you" to each of the volunteers, but we can honor them collectively this week.

One outstanding volunteer in each of our communities is being highlighted in the pages of our newspaper today. However, in honoring them we must also remember the countless deserving individuals who also have improved and enhanced our communities by their service.

Our hats are off to all of the volunteers in the six communities we serve.

High school students devote hours to youths

By JENNIFER PLACINTO

Two Wayne-Westland students were recently awarded $1,000 scholarships from the Westland Target Store in partnership with the Westland Youth Assistance Program for their volunteer work in the community.

The two high school seniors, Autumn Kucka of John Glenn High School, and Rebecca Touchstone of Wayne Memorial High School were selected for the "Thanks to Youth" scholarships by a panel of community representatives.

Touchstone, an 18-year-old Inkster resident, is the oldest of four children. She is planning to study elementary education at Michigan Christian College in Rochester Hills. Her goal is to one day own a child care center.

Autumn Kucka

Touchstone has volunteered her services in the pediatrics ward at Garden City Hospital, as a camp counselor and through church activities.

As a hospital volunteer, Touchstone performs all types of work, from changing baby diapers to making intravenous (IV) boards so children can't pull them out.

"I do anything that makes the nurses day easier," Touchstone said.

Kucka, a 17-year-old Westland resident, plans to use her scholarship money towards a journalism degree from Michigan State University.

Kucka performs the majority of her volunteer work through Junior Civitans. As vice president for the local club and secretary treasurer for the state organization, Kucka has been a Junior Civitan member since seventh grade.

"I had a friend in the local group whose dad ran the club. I wanted to help out and we do have a lot of fun and meet a lot of new people," Kucka said.

During her six years of volunteer work with the group, Kucka has participated in Special Olympics, community cleanups, teaching elementary students the importance of reading and several fund-raisers.

On one of her trips to the homeless shelter, Kucka and other group members dressed up in costumes and performed skits for the children.

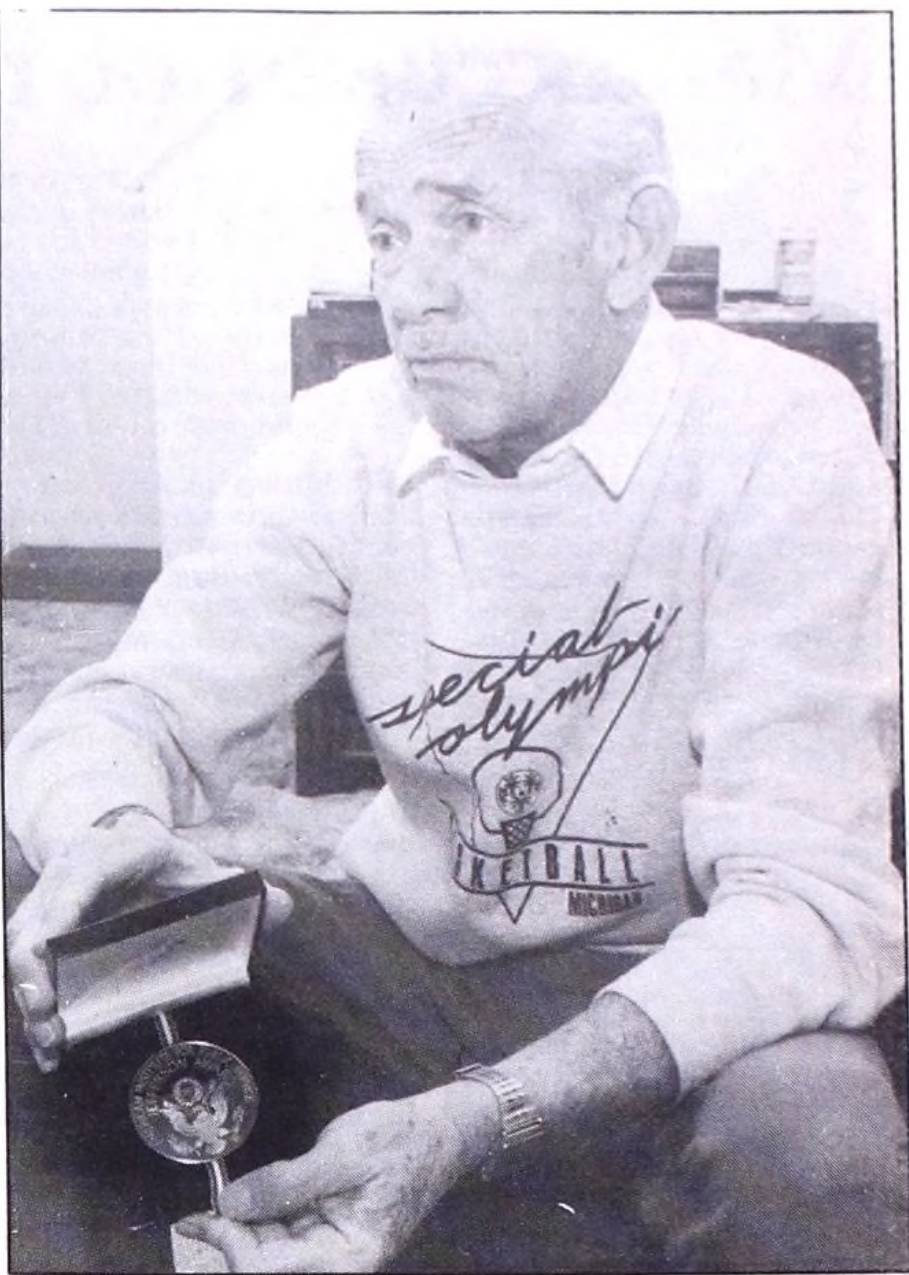

"We went and saw the impact we had on kids in the children's shelter in Pontiac. It seems to really make their day. It makes a difference to them," Kucka said.

Kucka was involved in fund-raising events for families of two former Wayne-Westland students involved in serious and fatal automobile accidents. Along with her group, Kucka helped raise money for the United Nations International Children's Education Fund (UNICEF), which helps provide an education and medical care for children of impoverished countries.

Kucka hopes to continue her volunteer service with the Civitans while in college.

"The director for the state lives in Lansing. She runs a high school group and maybe I can help there," Kucka said.

The young volunteer has also participated in activities through her high school business club. As a member of Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA), Kucka participated in the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA) Bowl-a-thon to raise money for research.

He's a quiet, family man who has a heart big enough to share with more than 1,500 children.

Wayne resident John A. McHugh recently received the 1994 Jefferson award for his outstanding public service from WJBK-Channel 2. McHugh has been a volunteer for the Michigan Special Olympics Area Branch 23 (Wayne County) for 14 years.

McHugh has served as the director of the Special Olympics Branch 23 for five years. He is a humble individual who believes others are more worthy of the award.

"There are so many other volunteers who should have been considered for this award before me," McHugh said. "I accepted this award in honor of all those individuals who have worked just as hard and have helped just as many people."

"There are so many other volunteers who should have been considered for this award before me. I accepted this award in honor of all those individuals who have worked just as hard and have helped just as many people."

McHugh is also instrumental in enforcing state and international Special Olympic policies. He is an enthusiastic public speaker and is, above all, a willing, dedicated volunteer.

"This has been a team effort," McHugh said. "All the wonderful things that happen with the Special Olympics couldn't come about without everyone working together. Those kids make me look good."

McHugh and his wife, Helen, have one son, John Jr. who is an excellent athlete with the Special Olympics. The family has lived in Wayne, Westland and Canton Township.

Team of community helpers make difference in Sumpter Township

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

When Sumpter Township Clerk Joan Oddy was asked to nominate an outstanding volunteer from her community, she was quick to supply a dozen names.

"These are only a few of our volunteers. There are dozens more that I could name," Oddy said. "I think we have the greatest volunteers of any community. A few years ago, when the township was struggling financially, we had to rely heavily on the people in our community, and they didn't let us down. If it were not for them, many of the programs that are successful today never would have been possible."

The biggest accomplishment of the volunteers was the remodeling of the interior of the former Sumpter Elementary School to create a community center. Individuals and families joined together to clean, paint and upgrade the former classrooms, and name plates on the doors identify those who donated their time and energy to the project.

"It's difficult to pare down the list of volunteers to just a few, but there are some outstanding volunteers who have donated their services without recognition of any kind," Oddy said. "Three senior volunteers - Otto Reese, Thelma Martin and Benny Storemski - and two employees - Esther Hurst and Maria Beaudrie - are especially deserving of recognition."

The three retirees who donate their time to the township believe their activities help to keep them young in heart and spirit.

"It keeps us motivated. We don't have time to worry about things," said Thelma Martin.

Retired from the Internal Revenue Service after 33 years, Martin enjoys helping people. Currently, she is helping to care for an ill friend who has no close relatives.

"I pray every day, 'God, give me the strength to do everything I have to do today.' I'm on the board of directors for the senior center and I help on the Sumpter newsletter. I also volunteer at the Recreation Center and the bingo games."

She is a member of People's Community Church in Detroit where she sings in the choir and is on the steward board. She also sings at the Pleasant Valley A.M.E. Church in Sumpter Township.

Reese, who is a retired electrician, is minister of the Ark of Noah Church. He teaches a weekly Bible class for seniors, serves on the board of directors of the senior center and is a reserve police officer.

"I enjoy doing things to help others. I love to read and study the Bible, and to share it with others," Reese said. "I'm also an advocate of Citizens for Better Care, a organization that helps people in convalescent homes. Many of them have no families, no visitors and do not know what rights they have."

Benny Storemski, 77, has been in charge of distributing commodities at the Sumpter Social Civic Club for more than 15 years.

Although his wife is ill and he has had to care for her for the past three years, he still manages to find time to oversee the monthly distribution.

"I have seven or eight volunteers who help. If someone can't come in, I deliver to them," said Storemski. "I've got the greatest volunteers working for me. They are a tremendous help. There's no glory for them. They just do the work."

Man accused of rape, abduction awaits court hearing

BY LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

A 25-year-old Dearborn Heights man, accused of abducting and raping his former girlfriend, is awaiting a psychological examination and competency hearing in jail.

David Wilke will face seven additional charges including kidnapping, criminal sexual conduct and felony firearms if tests prove he is competent to stand trial, according to police investigators. Until that time, he will remain in the Wayne County Jail with no option for bond, police said.

Wilke dated the 22-year-old alleged victim, of Dearborn Heights, for approximately two years before she ended the relationship last January. Wilke is accused of subsequently breaking into the woman's home, where she resides with her parents, raping her at knife point and robbing her.

Following an April 6 preliminary examination in the 20th District Court of Dearborn Heights, Judge Leo Foran ordered Wilke to stand trial on two counts of criminal sexual conduct in the first degree, breaking and entering and armed robbery, but released the man on a $50,000 cash bond, with the condition that he not contact the victim. He is alleged to have abducted the woman hours later as she exited her vehicle, parked in the driveway of her residence. She was returning home to gather some clothing before she went to reside with friends.

"After posting bond, the suspect stole a 1994 Aerostar and handgun from his mother's home," said officer Tammie Colling of the Canton Township Police Department. "He then abducted the woman from the Dearborn Heights home after 9:30 p.m."

The couple reportedly checked into the Ramada Inn on Michigan Avenue, just east of Interstate 275, at 1:30 p.m. April 7. The hotel manager told police he recognized the man from pictures aired on television news and called authorities.

"We responded within minutes of getting the phone call," said Sgt. Mark Evorian, of the Dearborn Heights Police Department. "I contacted the Canton Township Police Department, then got our people together."

Working together, the Dearborn Heights Department and Western Wayne Special Operations Team surrounded the premises with more than 40 officers and arrested Wilke as the couple walked out of the hotel room.

The bruised victim was transported to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after telling police she was raped and beaten repeatedly by Wilke, armed with a loaded .38 caliber revolver. Wilke was treated for chest pains then taken into custody by Canton Township Police.

The man returned to Foran's Dearborn Heights courtroom two days later on a seven-count warrant. The judge remanded Wilke to the county jail without bond pending a competency hearing. Results of the test are expected within one month.

3 vie for school superintendent position

BY LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

The Plymouth-Canton community will interview three candidates for the job as superintendent of schools this month and next, but according to one board of education member, the players have changed.

"Dr. Gene Denisar will not be coming for the interview," said board secretary David Artley. "Having had the opportunity to think things over, he realized his family ties in the community were too strong."

The cancellation of Denisar's candidacy was accepted by the board with some regret, but not treated as tragedy.

"As everyone knows, the board's vote to ask three semifinalists back for another interview was close. Dr. Gary Hughes was right up there with the other three," said Artley. "If we could've brought back four for second interviews, we would have."

Hughes currently fills the superintendent seat in Durand, Mich., a school district of 2600 students, for an annual salary of $81,000. A Great Lakes native, Hughes has educational experience from six different Michigan school districts ranging from Troy to Owosso to Lake Orion.

As a result, the board will begin the interviewing process April 21 with Dr. Charles Little. Dr. Robert Monson will follow on April 26. A public reception is planned for both candidates at 4 p.m., three hours before their interviews, in the E.J. McClendon Educational Center.

Dr. Gary Hughes will interview with the board at 4 p.m. May 3. A public reception is planned for him at 8 p.m. the following night in the E.J. Mc-

Clendon Educational Center.

All three-hour interviews and receptions will take place in the second floor conference room and are open to the public.

"The public is encouraged to attend," said Artley. "The more the merrier."

Each candidate will spend two days in the community meeting with educators, residents and business leaders.

The board of education will come to a consensus May 4, follow up with a site interview and appoint the successful candidate May 16, Artley said.

Drug war continues Task force battles local narcotics operations

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

Although drug seizures with a street value of more than $1 million were conducted last year by a multi-unit narcotics squad, narcotics traffic continues to plague western Wayne County.

In a report to the Conference of Western Wayne, Lt. Sandra Miller, commanding officer of the Western Wayne Narcotics Task Force (WWNTF), reported 153 suspects were arrested and charged with 219 narcotics-related counts in 1993.

"Increasingly, communities across America have seen the drug trade grip neighborhoods like a deadly plague. Substance abuse and addiction destroy families, overwhelm the education, criminal justice and social systems of our nation, as well as contribute to increased violence, homelessness and health care costs," said Miller. "Law enforcement is well aware of the intertwined relationship between a community's social and economic infrastructure and the magnitude of its drug and crime problem."

Miller noted that a task force approach enables agencies to share narcotics intelligence, sophisticated equipment, formalized training, vertical prosecution and scarce personnel.

"During 1993, the task force was comprised of officers from Canton Township, Van Buren Township, the Michigan State Police, Garden City and Livonia. The communities of Belleville, Northville and Sumpter Township participated through financial contributions," Miller said. "As evidenced by the case summaries in this report, most organized drug rings operate throughout the metropolitan area and do not confine themselves to a certain community."

"The close proximity of both a major international airport and an international border, as well as quick access to north-south and east-west state thoroughfares, tends to influence the nature and strength of the narcotics problem affecting the western Wayne region," Miller said.

The report of 1993 charges included 47 instances of cocaine selling, 10 cases of cocaine possession, 67 instances of marijuana selling, 21 cases of marijuana possession and five instances connected with heroin selling and possession.

Miller reported five noteworthy cases to the conference members:

- Westland/Garden City, 46 marijuana plants, one-half pound of packaged marijuana and hydroponic growing equipment were seized from one residence and 291 plants and 40 pounds of loose marijuana were confiscated from a second growing operation. The potential street value of marijuana from both seizures was valued at nearly $500,000.
- Canton Township, 22 pounds of marijuana, one ounce of cocaine and an AK-47 assault rifle plus drug ledgers were seized in a raid. Street value of the drugs was in excess of $100,000.

- Sumpter Township, a raid on a major grow operation at a residence revealed 23 large plants and 22 pounds of cultivated marijuana plus 13 guns, including semi-automatic pistols and assault rifles. The arrest also led to the seizure of 25 additional pounds of marijuana from another suspect. Street value of the drug seizure was more than $100,000.
- Canton Township, three guns, multiple pounds of marijuana plus an additional 30 pounds of marijuana were seized.
- Van Buren Township 32 pounds of marijuana was seized from a suspect's vehicle. Confiscated in a subsequent raid were more than 200 pounds of marijuana, five guns and vehicles.

"Prior to the formation of the Western Wayne County Narcotics Unit, no coordinated effort to combat narcotics crimes existed in western Wayne County. The team looks forward to continued success and providing quality service to member communities in 1994," Miller said.

Board of directors of the task force include Van Buren Township Public Safety Director Mark Perkins, chairperson; Canton Township Public Safety Director John Santomaro; Sumpter Township Police Chief Clinton Brown, and Belleville City Manager Jeffrey Przygocki, treasurer. Also serving on the board are the Northville, Livonia and Garden City police chiefs and a state police officer from the Southeastern Criminal Investigation Division.

In addition to the unit commander and three members of her staff, there are five investigators and a team commander.

Beretta available for all to Z

By CRAIG GARRETT
Special Writer

"Whose 'Z' is that," the chief mechanic at a local auto dealership asked recently. "Anyone going to move that 'Z,'" he asked a second time, head swiveling on ball bearings and plainly aggravated that some ding-dong has blocked his No. 1 garage door.

By the time limp jaw bones snap shut and realization dawns that this grizzled veteran is talking about a Chevy Beretta Z26, he's tricky-trotted away from the showroom floor in a huff. Strike me down and call me late for dinner.

It's hard to imagine Chevy's little wedge-shaped two-door coupe has been renovated from a fairly plain econo-car of the late '80s to an impressive addition to General Motors' "Z" designation in the Chevrolet lineup card, but it's true. Thankfully,

Like only the world's largest auto maker can, the 1994 Z26 replaces the discontinued Beretta GTZ with a nifty array of flares, tires and engine enhancements that favor the car with a Detroit look and nifty performance for less than $15,000. Just like that.

Under the hood (where every real driver should focus his/her primary attention), GM powertrain engineers have chained in a (optional) 3.1L V6 that delivers a quick 185 ponies, plus decent mileage (something like 30 mpg average with a five-speed standard transmission). Low-end movement is sluggish, but after 30 mpg watch out - a new high-resolution (24X) ignition system, coupled with fresh lifter and cam design, really gets that V-6 building a head of steam in short order.

"Z" also offers the smaller 2.3L Quad 4 perfected by Olds engineers and the standard

2.2L in-line four banger for the more economical by nature.

Engine steroids also mean ride has to be stabilized for tough corners and avoiding driveway toys. MacPherson struts with coil springs, control arm redesign and the addition of an anti-roll bar give the driver a pretty good sense of being in control in the 40-55 mph exit/entrance ramp range. But don't push it much further, although braking (standard disc/drum) is tight and reliable.

Inside Z26 drivers will find standard GM are, including air conditioning, the "MICAM" electrical/battery protection system, auto door locks, driver's airbag and door-mounted seat belts (sorry, they really take getting used to).

Sagging sales probably forced GM to redesign Beretta, but ya' done good, guys. It don't get no better than this.

Beretta Z26

A-1 Transmissions offers nation-wide warranty

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Quality products and workmanship along with lifetime guarantees are the mainstay of A-1 Cottman Transmissions of Garden City, the first location to be opened in the national chain.

Owner Greg Hulce said that his six-member, state-certified repair crew services automatic transmissions, 4 by 4's, vans and recreational vehicles, clutches, drive shafts, imported vehicles and sports cars.

Vehicles repaired at A-1 Cottman Transmissions are given a nationwide warranty, Hulce explained, as more than 145 A-1 Cottman shops are in operation around the U.S.

"If any problems arise on vehicles repaired in our shop, all the owner needs to do is call our office and make arrangements for emergency repairs," Hulce said.

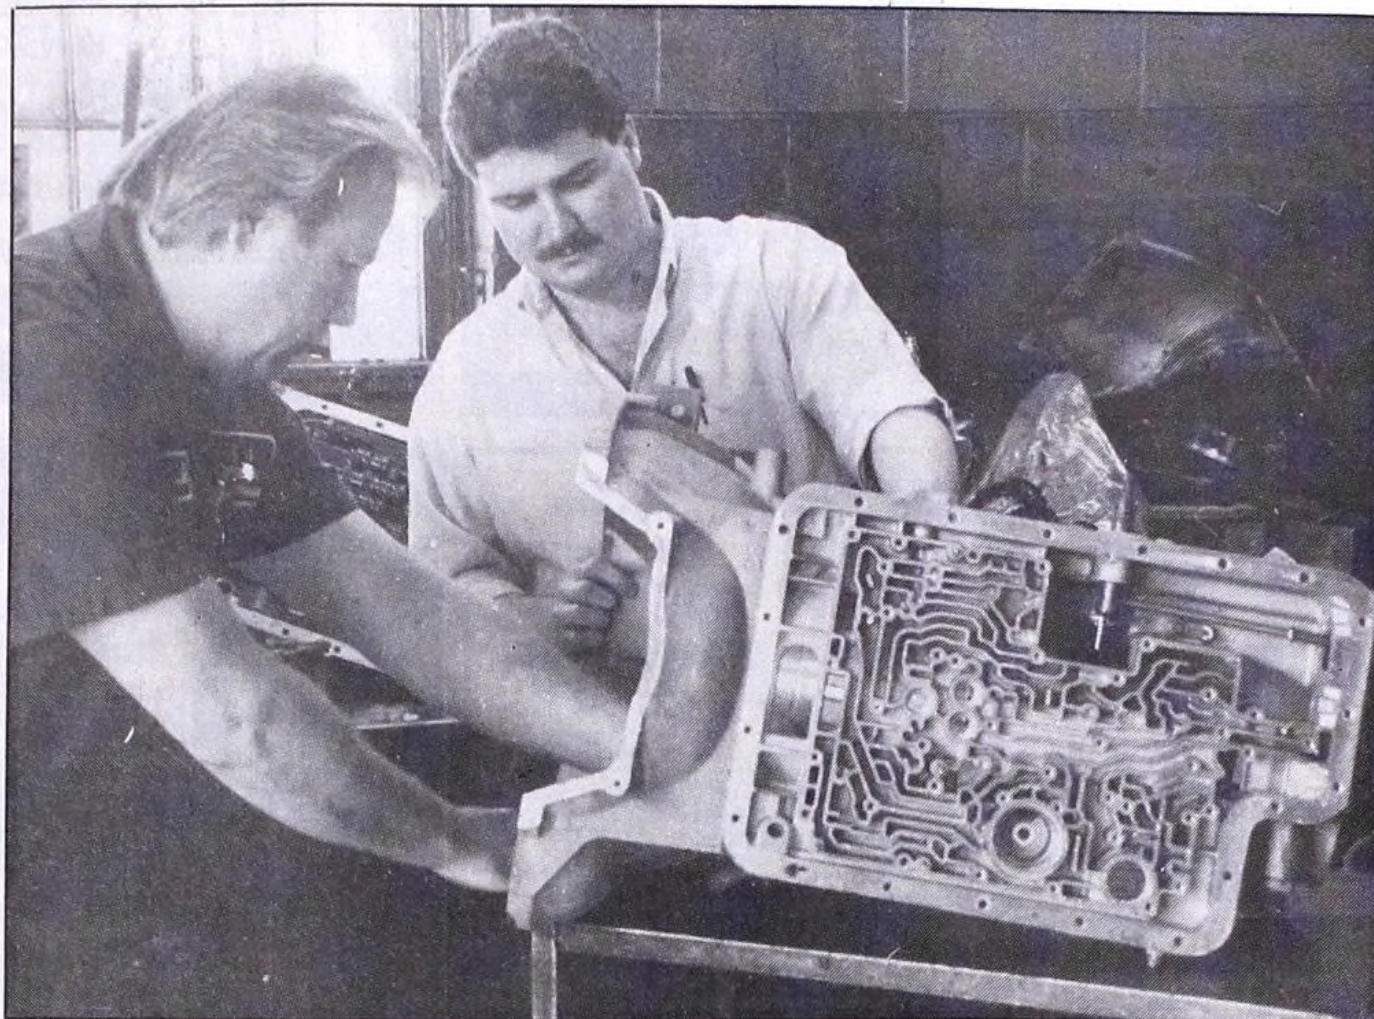

As a special incentive for Associated Newspapers VIP card owners, Hulce said he is offering 60 percent off all fluid changes.

A-1 Cottman Transmissions shop at 5939 Middlebelt Road in Garden City has been in operation since October 1973. Hulce, who was employed at the shop for the past six years, purchased the business last May.

"Our service crew members under the direction of Rob Kress, office manager, work on transmissions, axles, CV joints and rear axle assemblies," Hulce said.

One of our crew members, John Johanson, has been a state certified transmission re-builder for 23 years.

"We offer free towing on major repairs, free pickups and free rental cars during the repair time," Hulce said, "all customers need to do is check

Fair treatment is secret of success

Arthur Nelson, who has 34 years of experience in plumbing and heating, stands near one of the earth moving machines used in some commercial sewer installations. Nelson's company does residential work and is offering a 10-percent discount to VIP card holders.

BY LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

If it isn't broken, don't fix it, said Arthur Nelson of Arthur Nelson Plumbing and Heating. A plumbing and heating veteran of 34 years, Nelson believes his business success lies in the way he treats his customers.

"I've always been fortunate enough to deal with people honestly," he said, "and that's all you have to do."

Nelson opened the doors to his Westland shop at 35526 Ford Road, one block west of Wayne Road, in 1961 after operating for one year out of his home. Nelson said he decided to go into business for himself after years of toiling for someone else.

"It felt better than working for someone else," said Nelson. "I've really enjoyed it. It's been a good 34 years."

Focusing on commercial and industrial contracts, Nelson said he has never turned a customer away despite his work load. Whether a job takes one day or one year, Nelson appreciates a diverse client base with contracts in Westland, Garden City, Livonia and Inkster. He also services residential needs.

Five employees are trained to work on new construction, water lines, sanitary sewers and parking lot drains, which are only a few of the services the company provides. Nelson also offers repair work.

Open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, the office receives job requests from all over southeastern Michigan said the plumbing and heating specialist.

"Reputation, more than anything else, causes them to call," said Nelson. "We get a lot of business from word-of-mouth."

"People think plumbing is expensive, but it's really not, because it'll last for 20 years," said Nelson.

For a limited time, Arthur Nelson Plumbing and Heating is offering a 10-percent discount to VIP card holders following a free estimate. To arrange an estimate call 721-6827.

Go against the grain.
Cut down on salt.

Adding salt to your food could subtract years from your life. Because in some people salt contributes to high blood pressure, a condition that increases your risk of heart disease.
